DORSEY TO FIGHT FRANK PETITION BEFORE GOVERNOR

Sends Letter to Slaton Asking Permission to Appear Before Him to Oppose the Plea for Commutation.

SLATON SENDS LETTER TO SOLICITOR DORSEY

Understood Solicitor Will Present New Affidavits and Protest Against Commutation to Governor.

Solicitor Hugh Dorsey will appear before Governor Slaton and make a fight against the appeal for commutation for Leo M. Frank.

This was definitely established when correspondence passed between the solicitor and governor last week. It is known that Dorsey wrote Governor Slaton a request that, in event he was called upon to decide the Frank case, he be permitted to appear and present facts and evidence in rebuttal to the commutation plea.

It is also known that the governor replied to the note, granting the request in case the Frank case was ever brought to his official attention.

Slaton to Hear Dorsey.

Governor Slaton, reached over telephone last night, stated that he had replied to a letter received from Solicitor Dorsey to the effect that "he would be pleased to grant his request in event the Frank case came to his official notice."

He was asked if he would divulge the substance of the letter received from the solicitor, but asserted that comment upon Dorsey's communication should come from the solicitor. The contents of the latter missive have not been made public, and probably will not be for days to come.

Dorsey was asked to talk of his letter, but refused to disclose it. He was asked the direct question, "Have you asked Governor Slaton to give you a hearing in protest to the Frank commutation comes before him?"

"I do not want to talk at present," he said. "You will have to wait until later for such information."

Has Many Affidavits.

It is understood authoritatively that Dorsey is in possession of a large amount of data and evidence which he intends to submit to the governor, including affidavits of a nature not yet divulged. A large number of persons opposing the Frank commutation plea are also in his hands. It is reported that delegations of Georgia residents will also go before Governor Slaton to oppose the move to commute the death sentence. Dorsey would not comment upon this or other reports.

The question whether or not Dorsey would make any move against the Frank plea has caused wide speculation among people and legal authorities interested in the famous case. Dorsey has been uncommunicative in this regard and it was purely a matter of prophecy. Now, however, it is assured that he will personally protest against the appeal.

CAR FARE REDUCTION ADVOCATED BY TYPOS

W. S. Wardlaw Will Be Elected Next President of Local Union.

The nomination of officers for the ensuing half year and the unanimous indorsement of a proposition to reduce car fares in Atlanta by the elimination of transfers were taken up at an overflow meeting of the Atlanta Typographical union in the Labor temple Sunday afternoon.

The officers nominated Sunday will be elected by a referendum vote in the several departments of the union, Wednesday, June 16. The winners will be installed at the regular July meeting of the union. An unusual compliment was paid W. S. Wardlaw, proofreader for The Constitution, when he was nominated for the presidency without opposition. The other nominations were: E. E. Griggs, J. T. Archer, vice-president; E. L. Sutton, recorder; W. H. Grant, secretary-treasurer; D. W. Green, arbitrator; Fred Wortis, E. J. White, sergeant-at-arms.

The delegates to the Atlanta Federation of Trades also nominated were: Jerry Jones, Luther H. Still, W. C. Caraway, N. H. Kirkpatrick and J. W. Grady.

Candidates for the finance and auditing committee to be voted upon are: Otto Sligh, W. B. Correll and F. J. Connell.

E. A. Broyles addressed the members and advocated a petition to the railroad commission of Georgia, asking for the reduction of street car fares through the elimination of transfers. He proposed this substitution: Ten ticket for straight fares to be purchased at the rate of three for 10 cents, or eight for 25 cents. The proposition was given the unanimous indorsement of the union and Mr. Broyles was thanked for its suggestion.

Mrs. Edwin R. Haas Bruised When Electric Plunges Over a Bank

When the electric of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Haas, of 32 Waverly way, Inman Park, plunged over a twenty-five-foot embankment at the western end of the Edgewood avenue bridge, and landed at the Atlantic Compress company's warehouse walls, Mrs. Haas was slightly cut by broken glass, but she and her husband otherwise escaped injury. The steering knuckle of their machine broke, which caused Mr. Haas to lose control of the car as he had just reached the western end of the bridge.

The electric crashed through an inch-board fence before it plunged down the steep embankment into the walls of the compress company building.

ARCHDUKE FREDERICK AND DAUGHTER ISABELLA.

The Red Cross has found plenty of opportunity for its splendid work in Galicia. One of the tireless workers for the wounded is Isabella, daughter of Archduke Frederick of Austria. The archduke and his daughter are shown in the accompanying illustration outside army headquarters in Galicia.

VILLA AND ARMY FLEEING IN ROUT

Great Victory Claimed by Carranza — Villa's Trains and Artillery Captured. Informal Efforts for Peace.

Vera Cruz, June 6.—Defeat of the forces of Generals Angeles and Villa, the capture of the town of Leon and of all of Villa's trains and artillery is announced in a report of General Obregon, of the Carranza army, received here today.

The report says:

"I have achieved an important victory. After a five days' battle Angeles and Villa, with small groups of followers, fled in different directions. Our forces are pursuing them north of Leon.

"Leon has been occupied by the Carranza troops. All the enemy's trains and artillery were captured. The battle extended over a zone of 200 miles.

"I have ordered the reconstruction of the railroad and telegraph with Vera Cruz."

Washington, June 6.—No advices had been received at the state department or at either of the Mexican agencies up to a late hour tonight to confirm reports of a victory for Obregon over Villa and Angeles at Leon.

At Carranza headquarters the information contained in news dispatches was hailed as evidence that the complete collapse of the Villa movement was near.

Enrique C. Llorente, Villa representative, refused to give credence to the report. He said his last advices showed that the main body of the Carranza army was in a critical position near Trinidad.

INFORMAL EFFORTS ARE MADE FOR PEACE.

Washington, June 6.—Informal efforts—as yet without official sanction—are being made by Mexicans identified with the Villa-Zapata movement in Mexico to bring about a reconciliation with the Carranza faction with the view of establishing a government that could claim recognition by the United States.

Eliseo Arredondo, Washington representative of General Carranza, today received a message from a Carranza consul on the border, saying he had been approached by a Villa official, speaking presumably with authority, to learn what could be done to initiate peace negotiations. The message was forwarded without comment by Arredondo to General Carranza at Vera Cruz.

"I have nothing official and can therefore make no comment," said Arredondo tonight.

Enrique C. Llorente, agent here of the Villa-Zapata coalition, said he had no official advices that any peace parleys had begun and believed any preliminaries in this connection would be arranged through his agency. He said he had received tonight a telegram from Miguel Diaz Lombardo, secretary of state of the Villa-Zapata government, in which the latter announced his departure from Chihuahua for Leon to confer with General Villa on the general situation.

To Relieve the Starving.

American Red Cross officials are rapidly putting into effect their plans for relieving starving Mexican noncombatants. An army transport will leave Galveston, Texas, for Vera Cruz tomorrow with a large consignment of corn and beans for Mexico City, arrangements having been made for safe

ROOSEVELT PASSES THROUGH ATLANTA SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Theodore Roosevelt stopped in Atlanta Sunday afternoon while en route to New Orleans to make an address there. He was in the city a few days with John M. Parker, national committeeman of the progressive party. He was accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt. They arrived in Atlanta at 5 o'clock over the Southern railway, coming direct from New York city. They left at 5:50 o'clock over the West Point route, and were traveling in the drawing room of a Pullman.

To Atlanta friends the ex-president stated that he regretted he could not stop over here and deliver an address. Dr. Frank H. Peck, one of the local leaders in the progressive party, wrote to him last week inviting him to stop here and make a public address, but he stated Sunday he was pressed for time. Mr. Roosevelt appeared in good spirits in spite of his recent strenuous contest in the New York courts with Barnes.

He was taking a nap in his easy chair when the train pulled into the Terminal station here, and was awakened by Mrs. Roosevelt when friends called at the drawing room to speak with him.

Recently the ex-president sustained a fractured rib, but he says he has about recovered and is "feeling bully."

He says he is watching developments in Mexico and Europe with keen interest.

Upon his return to Oyster Bay, friends of Colonel Roosevelt in Atlanta will endeavor to get him stop here for an address. Norman J. Miller, secretary of the local progressive party, stated Sunday that he would communicate with him at once in regard to speaking here next week. He also said that no attempt had been made by the local organization to induce Colonel Roosevelt to interrupt his journey south because of his recent injuries.

UNITED STATES BRANDS TWO SO-CALLED CITIZENS

Passports of Raines and Recknagel Revoked for Attacking Wilson in German Press.

Berlin, June 6.—(Via London.)—The passports of two American citizens living at Dresden—Leon Raines and Karl Recknagel—have been ordered revoked by the American embassy, on instructions from the state department at Washington.

The men, it is said, adversely criticised the American government in the present crisis, and declared in a newspaper article that they were ashamed of their citizenship.

Washington, June 6.—It was explained tonight at the state department that the passports of Leon Raines and Karl Recknagel had been revoked because of their published attacks on the American government. They were reported to have issued an open letter to President Wilson in the press of Germany and to have been the authors of circulars and pamphlets criticising the United States.

As the giving of passports is a courtesy on the part of the state department, the privileges were ordered revoked through Ambassador Gerard on the ground that the men violated their allegiance.

Revocation of the passports makes it practically impossible for either Raines or Recknagel to return to the United States before conclusion of the war. In the meantime they will be without protection usually given by this government to its subjects in foreign territory. State department officials said if the men returned to the United States there was no law under which they could be refused admission or their citizenship be denied.

HOSTS OF COUNTRY MEET IN ATLANTA

Greeters Will Be Welcomed to City by Mayor Woodward at 10 O'Clock This Morning.

Howdy do! Glad to see you! What'll you have? Best thing in the hotel? Sure. You deserve it!

The advance guard of the Greeters of America, that organisation of first hailers of knights of the road and the eternal gladhand incarnate, the hotel clerk, arrived in the city Sunday.

George A. Dixon, whose home port is San Francisco, president and high mogul of the whole outfit, together with half a hundred others, hove into town Sunday morning. Mr. Dixon registered at the Piedmont, where the Greeters will have official headquarters.

Some Hotels Here.

The Sunday arrivals spent the afternoon sauntering about and observing the town, the hotels in particular.

"You have some hotels here, even if I do come from San Francisco," observed Mr. Dixon. "And," he added, "please say 'San Francisco.'"

By which, know ye, San Franciscans do not say "'Frisco' any more than Arkansans say Ar-KAN-sas, or Carolinians say 'Cliner.'

More of the Greeters will arrive this morning, and before sunset there will be approximately 200 of them here from all sections of the country.

A delegation of 125 will arrive at the Union station this morning at 7 o'clock from Chicago, Minneapolis and other middle western points. A. H. Chapman, of the Atlanta organization, went to Alabama Saturday night to meet this delegation and act as official escort to Atlanta. When they hit town this morning they will be met by a big committee from the local Greeters, headed by a brass band and a squadron of Chief Beavers' "best."

Three Days' Session.

This early morning welkin-splitting salutation will officially initiate a three days' session marked with important deliberations and remarkable celebrations.

The visitors will register at the headquarters at the Piedmont hotel at 9 o'clock this morning. At 10 o'clock Mayor Jim Woodward will hand over the keys of the city with a deed in fee simple to all things interesting attached thereto.

After that there will be daily meetings and nightly entertainments.

And though the nocturnal end of the convention will offer sundry attractions, it appears that the daytime remainder will not be devoid of excitement.

The names mentioned—and very audibly at that—for the next president include Earle Byers, of Minneapolis; Leslie Fairchild, formerly of Atlanta, now of Birmingham, and Roy Moulton, of Portland, Maine. A blue ribbon, which will be distributed liberally by the "took-me-over-boys" smile of F. P. Shanley, of 'Frisco—pardon, please—San Francisco, who is candidate for vice president.

Salt Lake City has intimated that she would take great pleasure in becoming the next convention city.

Meanwhile the matters of a uniform constitution and a complement fund will occupy the profoundest thought of the deepest deliberators.

Altogether it would appear that the Greeters will stage some convention—considerable!

FRENCH GAINING IN FIERCE DRIVES AT GERMAN LINES

Invaders Are Forced to Give Ground to the North of Arras and at Other Points.

LOSSES OF THE GERMANS REPORTED TO BE HEAVY

Berlin Admits That Ground Has Been Lost in West. Struggle in Galicia Continues With Varying Fortune.

London, June 6.—Considerable gains by the allied forces in France are reported by Paris. Berlin admits two reverses claimed by Paris—at Neuville St. Vaast, where the Germans have lost two groups of houses, and the relinquishment of a sugar factory at Souchez.

Gains on the western front claimed by Paris are on the sector north of Arras and at Neuville, where trenches south of the "labyrinth" have been taken, and north of the Aisne, where after a bombardment two successive lines of trenches and several German works were captured and counter attacks repulsed.

Germany reports the repulse with heavy losses to the allies of attacks on the eastern slope of the Lorette height.

Two battles are in progress in Galicia. The Russians have made a considerable advance on the lower reaches of the San and have driven the Austro-Germans back to the Lenq river, while in the region of Zemberg the Austro-Germans are advancing, although the Russians are contesting every inch of the roads to the Galician capital, which is the objective of the Teutonic allies.

NOTABLE GAINS FOR THE FRENCH.

Paris, June 6.—The following official communication was issued by the war office tonight:

"In Belgium, north of Arras the struggle continues with extreme activity and to our advantage. We have delivered several favorable attacks on the two sides of the road from Aix-Noulette to Souchez, and gained some ground in the wood east of that road, and to the south, in the region of the Fond de Buval.

"At Neuville St. Vaast our progress continues. In the northern part of the village we have carried several houses and at the same time tightened our investment of an enemy shelter in a group of houses northwest of that locality, and have occupied the passageway leading to it.

"We have captured new trenches in the center and to the north of the 'Labyrinth' and have advanced about a hundred meters. The struggle has continued without interruption for eight days in that great work, two-thirds of which we hold.

"North of the Aisne, east of Tracy-le-Mont, on the neighboring heights of Moulin-Sous-Touvent, we delivered an attack which realized important gains.

"After an efficacious bombardment on a front of one kilometer (about two-thirds of a mile) we captured, with a single effort, two successive lines of trenches and several enemy works. Three violent counter attacks were repulsed by our troops, who took more than 200 prisoners and three .77 guns.

"In Champagne, near Beausejour, we have progressed in the mine on the heights of the Meuse. In the Vosges there have been artillery engagements."

A statement issued during the day said:

"In the region to the north of Arras the enemy undertook yesterday evening a violent effort to recapture positions taken recently. The whole of the front from Ablain to Neuville and particularly the sugar refinery at Souchez, underwent a bombardment almost continually, by which our artillery replied energetically.

"Five German counter attacks were launched on the road east of the Chapelle-de-Lorette. The counter attacks have been incessant in the wood to the east of the road from Aix-Noulette to Souchez.

"In Champagne, offensive was overwhelmed everywhere, and we maintained all our gains, which we have consolidated on the enemy. Between the Aix-Noulette-Souchez road and the Ablain-St. Nazaire we took several trenches of the enemy, in which we made about thirty prisoners."

GERMANS ADMIT FRENCH GAINS.

Berlin, June 6.—(Via London.)—The war office has issued today the following statement:

"West:

"Attacks on the eastern slopes of Lorette heights were repulsed with heavy losses to the French. Fighting is in progress in only some small portions of the trenches. The remainder now is in possession of the French.

"In Neuville we lost two groups of houses.

"Mines of the enemy exploded in Champagne were quite ineffective.

"We dropped bombs yesterday on Calais and the aviation grounds at St. Clement, near Luneville.

"East:

"Our offensive in the region of Rawdynikl, where the southern and northern forces have joined, gained up ground toward the east. The number of prisoners was increased to 3,830. Further south, near Ujany, an attack made by a Russian division was repulsed. South of the Vistula German troops are driving back divisions of the enemy to the Sopotzkin-Wilowiasky line.

"Southeast:

"East of Przemysl German and Austrian troops have driven back the enemy as far as the district northeast and southeast of Mosciska (25 miles east of Przemysl). The army of General von Linsingen stormed the bridgehead near Hurawna (30 miles east of Stry), and is about to attempt to force a crossing of the Dneister, near this place. Farther south the pursuit con-

RUMANIA TO FIGHT WHEN ITALY SPEAKS

And Bulgaria Will Follow Rumania's Lead—Great Demonstration at Bucharest in Favor of Allies.

London, June 6.—Rumania is going through a crisis similar to that experienced by Italy before the latter country entered the war. Those who favor neutrality and those who favor war held counter demonstrations at Bucharest today, where political parties are getting into shape to put forward their views.

The general opinion in London is that Rumania will join the allies when Italy gives the word and that Bulgaria will follow her lead.

With the king of Greece suffering a relapse and in a serious condition, no immediate change in the attitude of that country is expected.

FOR INTERVENTION RUMANIANS CRY.

London, June 6.—Reuter's Bucharest correspondent telegraphs that a great demonstration was held there today in favor of Rumanian intervention in the war in support of the allies. About 20,000 persons marched to the Italian legation where speeches were made eulogizing Italy. In the afternoon partisans of Alexander Marghiloman, the conservative leader, together with socialists, organized a counter demonstration.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the conservative party the attitude of M. Marghiloman in favor of Germany was discussed. After a long debate the majority condemned the leadership of the party. M. Marghiloman thereupon left the meeting, followed by his supporters.

A meeting of the whole party has been called for tomorrow under the presidency of Jean Lahovary, who represents the wing of the party favorable to the allies.

BULGARIA DENIES SHE'LL STAY NEUTRAL.

London, June 7.—(2:17 a. m.)—A dispatch from The Times from Sofia, dated Friday, says:

"A communication issued by the ministerial journal yesterday declaring Bulgaria was resolved to adhere to neutrality, is now disavowed."

NEW RURAL ROUTES TO BE ESTABLISHED

Burleson Announces 710 New Country Mail Delivery Lines to Serve 82,390 Families.

Washington, June 6.—Establishment of 710 new rural mail delivery routes to serve 82,390 families and the extension of existing service to reach 5,460 additional families was announced today by Postmaster General Burleson. Nearly all of the new routes will go into operation June 15, and postmasters have been authorized to employ necessary temporary carriers pending the selection of permanent men through civil service examinations.

Enlargement and extension of the rural service was made possible, a postoffice department statement explains, by a readjustment in April and May resulting in a reduction of operating expenses amounting to $311,562. Many routes have been consolidated with others, but it is said that few carriers will be dropped. Transfers are being arranged under which experienced men are being retained.

Orders are now awaiting the postmaster general's signature providing for new rural automobile service in many localities. People on these routes when living within a radius of 25 miles will enjoy local rates. The first of the routes will go into operation on August 1.

SHADOW OF DEATH HANGS OVER KING CONSTANTINE

Condition of the Ruler of Greece Continues Extremely Critical.

London, June 6.—A Reuter dispatch from Athens describes the condition of King Constantine, of Greece, as extremely critical. The message, filed at 11 o'clock last night, said anxious crowds were surrounding the palace.

Telegrams received at the Greek legation from Athens, filed several hours in advance of the Reuter dispatch, were more reassuring. One timed 7:30 p. m. yesterday said the king's condition was "not immediately dangerous." An earlier telegram described the operation performed yesterday on the king as "serious but successful."

Athens, June 6.—An official bulletin issued at 7 o'clock this morning states that King Constantine's temperature at that hour was 104.18, pulse 140, respiration 39.

The king slept fitfully last night. His high temperature was attributed to the reaction following the operation for removal of part of the tenth rib.

Two Lines of Moslem Trenches Are Captured and Held Along a Front of Nearly Three Miles.

ALLIES USED BAYONET ON THE TURKISH TROOPS

Losses of the Turks Very Heavy — In Mesopotamia the British Forces Have Defeated the Turks—More Than 2,000 Ottoman Soldiers and Many Guns Are Taken.

London, June 6.—The allies, in their offensive on the Gallipoli peninsula on June 4, captured and held two lines of Turkish trenches along a front of nearly 3 miles. In Mesopotamia the British forces have received from the Turks the surrender of Amara and taken more than 2,000 prisoners, 13 guns, a gunboat, barges and steamers. The pursuit of the Turks who were dispersed into the marshes continues.

As in all trench warfare, the allies found their general advance on the Gallipoli peninsula hindered through the inability of part of their force to penetrate wire entanglements which artillery fire had not sufficiently destroyed. This left other sections of the force open to an enfilading fire, and, therefore, part of the ground gained had to be given up. Some also was lost when the Turks counter attacked, but the 600 yards gain in front of 4 miles in this sort of fighting, however, is considered satisfactory by the British, particularly as it induced the Turks to counter attack, in which they suffered heavy losses.

General Drive at Turks.

The official statement says:

"On the night of June 5-6 the Turks, having heavily bombarded a small fort in front of the extreme right French position, which previously had been captured, launched an infantry attack against it. The attack was repulsed with heavy losses to the enemy. At the same time they set fire to scrub in front of the left center of the British position and attacked, but met with no success.

"During the morning of the 6th of June Sir Ian Hamilton ordered a general attack of the Turkish trenches in the southern area of the Gallipoli peninsula, preceded by a heavy bombardment by all guns, assisted by warships.

"At a signal, the troops rushed forward with the bayonet. They were successful all along the line, except in one spot, where the wire entanglement was not destroyed by the bombardment.

"Indian troops on our extreme left made a magnificent advance. They captured two lines of trenches, but owing to the fact that troops on the right were hung up by this wire entanglement, they had to retire to their original line. The regular division made good progress on the left center, and during a strong redoubt, two lines of trenches beyond it, about 500 yards in advance of their original line.

Took Three Lines of Trenches.

"The territorial division on our center did brilliantly, advancing 600 yards and capturing three lines of trenches, but, though the advanced captured trench was held all day and half of the ensuing night, they had to be ordered back in the morning to take second-captured line, as both their flanks were exposed.

"The naval division on our right center captured a redoubt, a formidable line of trenches constructed in three lines, three hundred yards to their front, but they, too, had to be ordered back, owing to the heavy enfilading fire.

"The French second division advanced with great gallantry. They retook for the fourth time that deadly redoubt they call Le Haricot, but unfortunately the Turks developed heavy counter attacks and under cover of an accurate shell fire were able to recapture it.

"On the French extreme right the French captured a strong line of trenches, which, though heavily counter attacked twice during the night, they still occupy.

"We captured 400 prisoners, including ten officers. Amongst the prisoners were five Germans, a detachment of volunteer machine gun detachment from the Goeben (the Turkish cruiser Sultan Selim). Their officer was killed and the machine guns were destroyed.

Turkish Losses Heavy.

"During the night, information was received that the enemy reinforcements were advancing from the direction of Krithia and Achi Baba. Thereupon Lieutenant General Birdwood arranged to attack the trenches in front of Quinn's post at 10 p. m., which was successfully carried out, and the captured trenches were held throughout the night. Turkish casualties were heavy.

"At 4 a. m. the enemy heavily counter attacked, and by heavy bombs forced our men out of the most forward trench, but they still hold communication trenches made during the night.

"The result of these operations is that we have made an advance of 500 yards, which includes the capture of Turkish trenches, along a front of nearly three miles. We are now consolidating our new positions and strengthening the line."

FLEET AIDED LAND FORCES.

Paris, June 6.—An attack over the whole Turkish front at the Dardanelles and a gain of considerable ground was announced today at the war office. The statement follows:

"On June 4 the allied troops attacked the whole of the front, with the object of seizing certain points of support of the enemy. The British center occupied two lines of Turkish trenches over a depth of 400 meters. The first French division took the first line of the enemy.

"During the operation the allied fleet gave efficacious support.

"The enemy losses were high. Several hundred soldiers and ten officers were captured. Among the prisoners are six German sailors.

"The enemy's artillery has been dominated constantly during the fight by ours.

"Two Turkish counter attacks during the night of June 4-5 were repulsed easily."

BRITONS WIN ON THE TIGRIS.

London, June 6.—The following official communication was issued this night:

"The following further information has been received from General Sir John E. Nixon regarding the operations on the Tigris (asiatic Turkey):

"General Townshend, accompanied by Captain Nunn and Sir Percy Cox and a small gunboat flotilla, received the surrender of the governor of Amara, together with some thirty officers and about seven hundred soldiers, on the 3d of June.

"Amara is occupied by us in force. The troops captured comprised a rearguard Turkish forces retiring before General George F. Gorringe's column, which is pursuing the Turkish forces in their retreat from Persian territory. The main body following was seen to disperse into the marshes.

"Our total captures up to date, including the above, amount to 30 officers and 2,000 men and 7 field guns, 6 naval guns from the gunboat Marmaris, 12 large steel barges, 1 large river steamer, 3 small steamers and a considerable number of rifles and ammunition of all kinds. Further surrenders are expected.

"Of six Germans with the Turks, three were taken prisoners, two were killed by marsh Arabs and the fate of the sixth is doubtful."

PRINCE LOUIS NAPOLEON CANNOT FIGHT FOR ITALY

Rome, June 6.—Italy has declined to accept the military services of Prince Louis Napoleon Bonaparte because of its delicacy of feeling toward France. Representatives of the former ruling families are forbidden by French law to serve in the army or navy of that country, and for that reason Prince Louis offered his services to Italy.

Prince Louis Napoleon is a grand nephew of Napoleon I. He has served as a major general in the Russian army, and at one time was governor general of Erivan, Caucasus. His mother was Marie Clotilda, a princess of Savoy.

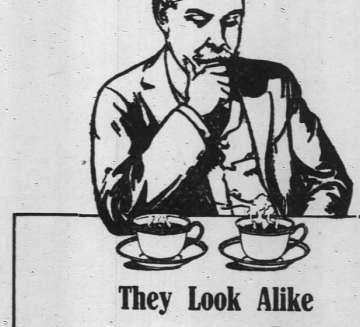
GERMAN BOMB FELL NEAR U. S. CONSULATE

London, June 7.—(3:08 a. m.)—In the Germin war raid on Calais last Saturday, says The Daily Mail's North of France correspondent, a bomb fell within 50 yards of the American consulate, but did no damage.

GERMAN DENIES ATTACK ON BELGIAN RELIEF WORK

Berlin, June 6.—(Via London.)—General von Bissing, the German governor general of Belgium, recently was quoted as having criticised American relief work in Belgium and as saying that it was in no sense a charity, but that the Americans received payment for all grain and supplies furnished with the exception of certain clothing from the Rockefeller foundation.

General von Bissing has now informed the American embassy in Berlin, through the foreign office, that he must have been misquoted. He had no intention, he says, of casting doubt on the fact that part of the grain sent to Belgium represented gifts, or of intimating that the foodstuffs had been disposed of otherwise than as directed by the givers.



They Look Alike But—

The average cup of coffee contains about 2½ grains of caffeine, a subtle, poisonous drug.

Caffeine is cumulative, and day by day pounds away at nerves, heart and other organs, finally showing in biliousness, headache, sleeplessness, heart flutter, nervous prostration, etc.

A cup of

has a flavour similar to mild high-grade Java, but contains no coffee, caffeine, nor other harmful substance.

Postum—made of whole wheat, roasted with a little wholesome molasses—is a pure food-drink decidedly American, and is taking the place of coffee with thousands of people who appreciate health and comfort.

Postum comes in two forms:

Postum Cereal—the original form—requires thorough boiling to bring out its flavour and food value. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—the soluble form—is prepared in the cup instantly with hot water. 30c and 50c tins.

Both kinds are equally delicious—cost per cup about the same—sold by grocers everywhere.

ITALIANS BATTLE WITH AUSTRIANS

First Important Engagement of Campaign Rages for Possession of Tolmino. Italian Warships Raid the Austrian Coasts.

London, June 6.—The first important battle of the Italian campaign is raging for possession of Tolmino, where the Italians have met with the first serious opposition in their advance across the Austrian frontier.

The Italian naval forces have carried out several operations against the Austrian coast points in the middle and lower Adriatic. They have cut the cable connecting the Dalmatian archipelago to the continent and destroyed by bombardments the lighthouses and lookout stations of the islands. Monfalcone also has received attention from torpedo boat destroyers, and the railway between Cattaro and Ragusa, in Dalmatian has been bombarded and damaged.

ITALIANS BOMBARD AUSTRIAN FORTS.

Rome, June 6.—(Via Paris.)—This official statement was issued at headquarters of the Italian general staff:

"Minor operations of our troops continue all along the entire frontier from Stelvio to the sea.

"On the plateaus Lavaronne and Folgaria the superiority of our artillery in the bombardments of Austrian forts is becoming more and more manifest. Our infantry, thus effectively supported, is establishing itself more firmly in conquered ground.

"Movements of masses of troops for concentration purposes continue everywhere in the most orderly manner."

AUSTRIAN CABLES CUT BY ITALIANS.

Rome, June 6.—(Via London.)—The following official statement was issued by the war office today:

"Naval detachments yesterday cut the cables uniting the continent to the islands of the Dalmatia Archipelago. All the lighthouses and lookout stations of these islands were destroyed. The railway between Cattaro and Ragusa was bombarded and seriously damaged.

"The same day a group of our destroyers, which were unsuccessfully attacked by Austrian aeroplanes, again bombarded Monfalcone and sank several sailing craft laden with merchandise. Large vessels supporting the destroyers cruised in the same waters without seeing the enemy."

ITALIANS REPULSED, AUSTRIANS REPORT.

Vienna, June 6.—(Via London.)—The Austrian war office has issued the following in regard to operations against the Italians:

"On the Tyrolean and Carinthian frontier the enemy confines himself to a fruitless artillery fire, avoiding a closer range on our positions. In the region of Lavaronne and Folgaria we have now opened fire with our heavy artillery on the hostile frontier forts. On the front in the coastal district the artillery duel is becoming more violent. In the fighting at Mono Nero the Italians have sustained considerable losses on the southern slope, 300 Italian dead being found.

"The enemy's attempt to cross the Isonzo river near Sagrado has been repulsed."

AUSTRIAN WARSHIPS DODGED AIR BOMBS.

Rome, June 5.—(Via Paris, June 6.)—A Messaggero dispatch from Venice says:

"During the bombardment of Pola by an Italian dirigible balloon May 30, the Austrian warships anchored at the arsenal moved into positions where they could avoid danger. While doing so the battleship Erzherzog Franz Ferdinand backed into a dockyard crane, tearing a large hole in the side of the smaller craft. The destroyer quickly left. The propellers and rudder of the battleship were damaged."

TEUTONS MOVE ON RUSS FLANK.

Berlin, June 6.—(Via London.)—Advices from the Galician front continue favorable to the Austro-Germans. According to a dispatch from Austrian headquarters, the Russians are being maneuvered out of one position after another, and already are in full retreat from Medyka, east of Przemysl, and it is considered doubtful if they can make a stand in Mosciskan.

The line of lakes running north and south through Gorodok, which would be the next natural line of defense, is being taken on the flank by the Austro-German advance from the south. If this army forces a passage of the Dneister, the Grodek line may prove untenable and then the Russians might have great difficulty in retaining Lemberg. Desperate Russian attempts to relieve the situation in the center by attacks on both wings have been fruitless, according to German reports.

A dispatch from Chernowitz, capital of Bukowina, says the Russians east and northeast of that city are in retreat before the Austro-Hungarians.

FALL OF PRZEMYSL NOT DECISIVE.

London, June 6.—A Reuter dispatch from Zurich says that Austrian papers sound a warning against overestimating the importance of the Austro-German victory in Galicia. The correspondent of The Zeit telegraphs that the fall of Przemysl does not mean a decision in eastern Galicia, but is only an important part of it.

"The Russians," adds the correspondent, "have proved themselves excellent fighters, and they still have large reserves of fresh troops. General Linsingen's army still has tremendous obstacles to overcome in its advance to the Dneister."

The military expert of The Neue Freie Presse, Vienna, says:

"The losses the Russians have sustained during the war are enormous, but their reserves are enormous."

Social Democratic Austrian headquarters report that the Russian rearguards are opposing the pursuit by General Linsingen's army south of the Dneister and covering the retreat across the river.

General Mackensen's army again is meeting violent attacks from fresh Russian reserve froces, and the Russians are exerting enormous pressure in the region of the Bug.

RUSSIANS CHECK TEUTON ADVANCE.

Petrograd, June 6.—(Via London.)—The forward movement of the extreme Russian right flank, operating at Stanai, Yata, Zargina and Lentowina, continues to retard the advance of the central Austro-German forces east of Jaroslau and Przemysl, which thus far has failed. Krawce and Burdzi, which are particularly mentioned in this connection, and just north of Stanai and Alsem, on the Lem river.

Southward, the fighting front may be traced by following the San to the mouth of the Lubaczowka and then following this river to the village of Tukhla, 12 miles south of Jaroslau. Thence the front is on a straight line for 12 miles east of Przemysl, including the villages of Kalnikof, Kosmenitza and Krukenitza and proceeding southeast to the Dneister, which marks the southern front.

An official communication issued by the war office tonight says:

"In the region of Riga and Shavli there has been no important change. On the front of Narew, the enemy on the 5th, the enemy opened a violent artillery fire on the region of the left bank of the Pissa river.

"On the Vistula one of our aviators successfully bombarded a train of enemy boats and sank one of them.

"On the Rawka the enemy, profiting by the wind being in our direction, attempted Saturday to employ asphyxiating gas and set fire to a chemical composition producing poisonous smoke.

"In Galicia, on the left bank of the Lower San, our troops captured, on the 4th, after a fight, the village of Grables. To the north of Lejaisk our troops who crossed the San are consolidating their positions, notwithstanding enemy attacks and a violent fire.

"From Przemysl the enemy continues the offensive in the direction of Mosciska. On the evening of June 4, the enemy, having concentrated strong forces against the Czyschky-Payost-Boukovitze front, made a series of attacks, supported by numerous batteries of heavy artillery. The enemy sustained severe losses under our fire, and was unable to approach our trenches.

"On the Pruth, between Delatyn and Kolomea, our troops crossed to the right bank and, with great energy, repulsed on the 4th and the following night a series of counter attacks by strong Austrian reserves."

GAINS CLAIMED BY AUSTRIANS.

Vienna, June 6.—(Via London, June 7, 12:20 a. m.)—The Austrian war office tonight issued the following communication:

"The allied troops yesterday advanced east from Przemysl close to Mosciska and stormed Starzawa.

"In Russian Poland the situation is unchanged.

"The allied troops, proceeding from the region of Stry eastward, captured a bridge head at Zurawna, on the Dneister, and also defeated the enemy north of Kalusz. Fighting continues on the Pruth."

NAVAL BATTLE IN THE BALTIC?

London, June 7.—(1:48 a. m.)—The Daily Telegraph's Copenhagen correspondent says:

"It is reported from Stockholm that a naval battle occurred Saturday near Gothland. For six hours a violent cannonade was heard from a southeasterly direction, and for a long time from 20 to 25 shots were heard every minute.

FIVE MORE TRAWLERS SUNK BY SUBMARINES

London, June 6.—Five more trawlers have been sunk by German submarines. The attacks occurred off Peterhead yesterday, and the Deerberry and Rudolph of Hull, Persimmon of Gimsby and Gascoigne and Curlew of Aberdeenland were the victims. The crews of all the trawlers were saved.

CAST IRON IS URGED FOR BRITISH SHELLS

London, June 7.—(3:29 a. m.)—The output of shells in Great Britain could be increased a thousand times if cast iron instead of tensile steel for shell cases, following the German example, were used, according to James Keith, a well-known mechanical engineer, in a letter to The Post. He says this would enable every small foundry in the kingdom to manufacture shells in great quantities at a fraction of the present price, as no special or expensive machinery is required.

Albany's Handsome Municipal Auditorium

Architect's sketch of Albany's Auditorium.

An Atlanta architect, A. Ten Eyck Brown, has been awarded a contract for drawing plans and supervising a new $40,000 municipal auditorium at Albany, Ga., which is to be built by the proceeds of a special bond issue.

Mr. Brown has designed a beautiful building, which has been accepted by the Albany city council.

The civic auditorium is to replace the present building used for this purpose, in Chautauqua park, and will front on the principal street of Albany.

The main auditorium will have a seating capacity of 1,800 people, where public gatherings of all kinds will be held. This auditorium will also be used as a theater, and will be equipped with a large stage, erected along the same lines as the big arena of the New York Hippodrome, in semi-circular fashion. Ten stalls, fashioned after foreign theaters, will be placed around the rear of the theater.

A smaller auditorium will seat 300, and a third auditorium, to be used by the Woman's club, will seat 250 people.

There will be men and women's rest rooms on the second floor, and other private rooms of a similar nature.

The building is to be a two-story and basement affair, construction of granite base, light brick for first and second floors, with terra-cotta cornices and trimmings of glass marquee.

When this new civic auditorium is completed, Albany will possess one of the handsomest buildings of this kind of any south Georgia city.

NO LACK OF MUNITIONS FOR THE RUSSIAN ARMY

One of the Czar's Officers Says That the Supply Is Adequate.

Petrograd, May 20.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—"Is Russia short of ammunition?" is a question frequently asked even in Petrograd. A Russian army officer has published a reassuring answer.

"After the Japanese war," he says, "the army was reorganized and increased and special attention was devoted to the working capacity of the special arms factories, which in Russia are the property of the state. The factories were enlarged and improved and in several parts of the empire new factories were established.

"The method of production of rifles is so planned that every year the number manufactured is proportionate to the number of reservists liberated from active service. The life of a rifle in active service is fixed at twelve years, when it is replaced by a new one, so that in reality every Russian reservists of the first and second class has his rifle ready in case of mobilization.

"In regard to territorial forces which are used only for internal service there are in the military depots new model rifles which have passed out of active service and millions of the old model, still considered a wonderful weapon, specially for defensive purposes.

"As to shells and other kinds of ammunition there is a noteworthy method of production. In new materials, including copper and other metals, Russia is so well supplied that it could furnish the whole of the engaged armies. The capacity of the Russian factories is the question that needs an answer. It must be noted that all the Russian factories producing any kind of metal work were from the moment of mobilization transformed into armament factories, and they are fully engaged in this work. Russia being free of blockade and possessing splendid communications through Siberia with Japan and America, is able without difficulty to get from those countries material of any kind she wants. The losses of war material in a war cannot exceed the number of prisoners and dead, plus a certain loss during a retreat by a defeated army, when the material could not be collected.

"The damage to rifles during a battle is so insignificant that it is always covered by the reserve that every army corps possesses. The Russian soldier is trained to guard his rifle like his eye and even when severely wounded never thinks of parting with his weapon.

"The position is different with regard to machine guns. The losses in this class of weapon are sometimes very heavy and are replaced with more difficulty. This was foreseen by the war office and Russia is completely supplied with this kind of weapon."

RUSSO-CHINESE TREATY IN REGARD TO MONGOLIA

Pekin, June 6.—Representatives of Russia, China and Mongolia, who have been in conference at Kiakhta, Siberia, for nearly a year, have concluded a treaty which will determine the status of Mongolia.

Following the Chinese revolution of 1912 Mongolia declared its independence of China, and was recognized immediately by Russia as an autonomous state. Japan thereupon extended her sphere of influence over Inner Mongolia.

By the terms of the agreement now reached China will retain a nominal suzerainty over Mongolia. Russia and China agree not to interfere with the administration of Mongolia's internal affairs.

A treaty to this effect will be signed tomorrow by the representatives of three nations.

SINKING OF GOLIATH BY TURKISH TORPEDO

London, June 6.—Reuter's Amsterdam correspondent sends the following report of the sinking of the British battleship Goliath in the Dardanelles in the middle of last month by the Turkish torpedo boat Mouvenet-I-Milieh.

"The British were in the habit of enfilading the Turkish flank on Morto bay, to end which Lieutenant Commander Firle, who was the German commander of the Turkish torpedo boat Mouvenet-I-Milieh, was ordered to creep down the entrance of the Dardanelles at night and attack.

"Advancing close and ascertaining that two ships only were British, he manned the torpedo tubes. The two British ships began to flash recognition signals. The Mouvenet-I-Milieh discharged a torpedo which struck the Goliath under the bridge. A second torpedo hit her between the funnels and a third one on the quarter.

"In three minutes the work was over. There was a dull explosion and a sheet of fire and the vessel sank without a soul being seen on deck.

"Thereupon the Turkish boat doubled back at full speed, escaping the enemy destroyers. While the searchlights glared, the British torpedo boats closed in and received a hail of shot from the coast defenses. The Turkish boat returned safely to her base with her crew of sixty men, of whom fourteen were Germans."

FAR-REACHING EFFECT OF A. B. C. CONFERENCE

St. Louis, June 6.—Delegates to the recent Pan-American financial conference left St. Louis for Chicago today on their trip of inspection of manufacturing cities. They closed their visit here with a luncheon at which Frederick W. Lehmann, former solicitor general of the United States, told them that the Niagara Falls mediation conference to adjust Mexican affairs may not have accomplished exactly what it was aimed to, but that it undoubtedly had a far-reaching effect in South and Central America.

"One of the great accomplishments of that conference," said Mr. Lehmann, "is the fact that through the United States' prompt and friendly acceptance of the offer of the three South American republics to mediate, she recognized as her equals the countries to the south of us. That act will continue to have its effect long after the details of the conference itself are forgotten.

"The conference also emphasized the fact that the United States does not desire territory in Central or South America; that she is not seeking indemnity for loss, nor does she desire reparation through the humiliation of a sister republic."

YOUNG MAN ACCUSED OF KILLING FATHER

Coleman, Fla., June 6.—William Johnson was arrested here today and lodged in jail on a charge of having shot and killed his father, Dr. W. C. Johnson, a prominent physician of this section. The physician was found dead in his home with a bullet hole through his brain. Young Johnson refuses to talk.

NO ROOM IS LEFT FOR GERMAN DOUBT

In Note Which Washington Cables to Berlin Tonight or Tomorrow—U. S. Insists on Neutral Rights.

Washington, June 6.—President Wilson's note to Germany will be cabled to Ambassador Gerard Monday night or early Tuesday, according to word from the white house tonight.

The only reason for the delay, it was said, was the president's desire to make the phraseology of the note so explicit and unmistakable as to leave no room for doubt or further argument concerning the position of the United States government—that the right of visit and search must be exercised and passengers and crew of unarmed ships, on which neutrals are voyaging, transferred to a place of safety before any prize is destroyed by a belligerent warship.

Officials familiar with the contents of the note said it was a forceful reiteration of the principles expressed by the United States in its note of February 10, when the American government announced that it could not admit the right of the German admiralty's proclamation of a war zone to infringe in any way upon the right of neutrals to travel anywhere on the high seas on peaceful merchantmen, and that the German government would be held to a "strict accountability" for any violation of American rights.

Suggestion has been made to the president that the recent note from Germany offering regrets and reparation for the sinking by mistake of the Gulflight be cited in the new note as proof of the American contention that without visit and search the identity of a vessel cannot be established and the lives of neutrals safeguarded. The commander of the German submarine which attacked the Gulflight reported that he did not see the American flag until "the moment of firing the shot." Whether this idea will be included is not known.

There may be some further discussion of the document with legal officers of the government tomorrow, but it is expected to be put in cipher and sent on its way to Berlin tomorrow night.

President Wilson went to church this morning, took a short automobile ride in the afternoon and spent the evening in his study, still at work on the note. Secretaries McAdoo and Houston called during the evening.

Optimism is German Quarters.

In German quarters the optimism which has been apparent since Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, talked with President Wilson, continued today, the impression being given that the road to an understanding was much clearer than it had been since the Lusitania was destroyed.

The belief is constantly expressed in German quarters that the crisis over the Lusitania case has passed. It is frequently pointed out, too, that the present correspondence over neutral rights may lead to a discussion of the general subject of the freedom of the seas, and some German officials have suggested that out of the exchange of notes with Germany, followed by further correspondence with Great Britain on neutral rights, the way may be opened even to the making of peace.

Attention for the present in offical quarters is fixed upon a settlement of the difficulties that have arisen between Germany and the United States, and talk of making peace in Europe is heard much less now than months ago.

German officials here estimate that if the American note is cabled on Monday or Tuesday, reaching the Berlin foreign office not later than Thursday, a reply probably would require a week's time, at least, and would not be here in Washington much before June 20. Count von Bernstorff plans to go to Cedarhurst, L. I., during the coming week. He has removed the embassy to summer quarters, as have many of the other embassies and legations.

VILLA AND HIS ARMY FLEEING IN ROUT

On its return trip the transport will bring back any Americans or other foreigners who may have reached Vera Cruz from the interior, and who desire to leave the country.

Brigadier General Levol, general manager of the Red Cross, left today for the Texas border to direct the handling of relief supplies.

There was a disposition at both the Carranza and Villa egencies here to treat the subject of peace parleys with much caution because neither of the representatives here professed to know how his respective chief would view the subject.

Confession of Failure.

Informally, however, some Carranza officials expressed their own opinion that the efforts of the Villa elements to make peace was a confession of military failure and the coming disintegration of their movement. Peace negotiations were reviewed by the Carranza men, therefore, as an obstacle to an early military triumph by General Carranza with consequent recognition. On the other hand, in the Villa quarters it was reiterated that General Villa had from the first expressed a willingness to eliminate himself and restore peace and that recent victories by General Angeles and others indicated that the Villa forces now had the upper hand.

Officials of the Washington government declined to comment on the situation.

AEROPLANE IS DESIGNED TO DESTROY ZEPPELINS

Rome, May 25.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—An aeroplane "destroyer," designed for attacking dirigibles, has been perfected in Italian government workshops. It is an enormous machine, with three separate engines and with a total energy of more than 250-horsepower. The aeroplane combines the tractor and pusher type of machines—that is, those drawn by an air screw in front and those pushed by an air screw behind.

It consists, in fact, of the bodies of an ordinary tractor biplane placed side by side and far enough apart so that there is room between them for the propeller of a third engine. Each of the two main bodies has its own engine and tractor screw in front, so that it looks at first like two ordinary tractor biplanes flying hand in hand.

On the section of wing which joins the two bodies is placed the body work of an ordinary pusher biplane, with the engine and propeller behind. In this way the body projects well forward in front of the screws of the other two engines, so that it can carry a gun of considerable size and have a clear field of fire forwards, backwards and on both sides without danger of hitting its own screws or wings.

The ends of the two bodies are joined together by a long tail stretching from one to the other, so that actually all parts of the machine are in proportion.

The big machine is capable of lifting a cargo of bombs large enough to be certain to destroy a Zeppelin if they hit it, and even capable of doing serious damage to a battleship.

EUROPEAN WAR FELT IN WILDS OF SIBERIA

Philadelphia, June 6.—The European war has had its effect even in the wilds of northern Siberia, according to H. H. Hall, who is leading a University of Pennsylvania museum expedition to Siberia to make ethnological collections and study the native tribes. A letter dated at Monastir, on the Yenisei river, received today from Hall, said the price of food supplies and, in fact, virtually everything, had advanced materially since the war began.

The expedition is expected to return late in the summer.

The educational campaign of the health department's division of child hygiene, says the announcement, prevented the deaths of approximately 1,400 infants.

It is the first volume of a series of papers and notes comprising diplomatic correspondence with belligerent governments relating to neutral rights and commerce. In it is printed the text of all telegrams which have passed between the United States and foreign governments since the outbreak of the war, and general correspondence with reference to restraints on commerce, including the notes exchanged between the United States and the allies and Germany.

As the correspondence develops, additional volumes will be issued or the present number revised.

TURNER NOT CAPTURED BY THE GERMAN FORCES

Ottawa, Ont., June 6.—An assertion by the Over-Seas News agency in a dispatch from Berlin by wireless last Friday night that "Colonel Turner, commanding the Third Canadian infantry brigade," had been captured, was denied by Minister of Militia Sam Hughes tonight. General Hughes stated he had been informed officially by cable that Brigadier General Turner, V. C. D. S. O., commanding the Third Infantry brigade, was well and with his brigade.

PORTO RICO WORKINGMEN MAKE APPEAL TO WILSON

Washington, June 6.—President Wilson was urged in a petition carried to the white house today by a committee representing the Free Federation of Workingmen of Porto Rico to appoint a commission to investigate labor conditions in the island. It was represented that "the rights, the liberties and the lives of the masses of the people of Porto Rico are placed in jeopardy by the mal-administration of the laws."

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, indorsed the petition and accompanied the committee, Santiago Iglesias and Privera Martinez.

The Porto Ricans declared workers on sugar and tobacco plantations were underpaid; that the island police force had been used to oppress them; that the right of assembly and of free speech and to strike had been denied; that attempts had been made to minimize the teaching of the English language; that more than 200,000 children of school age had been left without school accommodations, and that appropriations for schools had been cut down to lessen the taxes on the rich.

The petition asked that congress give the island a new constitution, and that the Porto Ricans be made citizens of the United States.

Since Ruth went gleaning and reaped her Boaz, there never was the chance there is today for the boy or girl who knows enough to go to the right field.—Judge.

Sports — Crackers Open Series in Memphis

Edited By Dick Jemison

Crackers Tackle Chicks; Four-Game Series Opens With Game There Today

GAME IN DETAIL.

The game between the Memphis Chicks and the Atlanta Crackers today will be called in detail by Dick Jemison, at his matinee parlors on the Viaduct. The admission fee will be 25 cents. The game will start at 3:45 o'clock. All other games by innings.

The Crackers continue their jaunt today. After resting on the Sabbath, they will go to Red Elm this afternoon for the first of four games with Briscoe Lord and his Memphis Chicks.

The Chicks got the better of the argument when they played the Crackers at Ponce de Leon, and the locals are smarting for a chance to get back at them. They'll get this chance this week.

After the series with the Chicks the Crackers pay their second visit of the season to Pelicanville, breaking even on their last-trip there. This visit will close the road trip, games being scheduled with the Pelicans for Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Tuesday the team is home for five games with the Mobile Gulls.

Scott Perry will probably face the Chicks this afternoon, and Dave Roth, formerly of the Barons, who beat the Crackers on a Chick uniform at Poncey, will be pitted against Perry.

SOUTH ATLANTIC CUTS PLAYING SEASON

President Says League Is Financially Sound; Curtailment for Business Reasons.

Savannah, Ga., June 6.—President N. F. Corish announced tonight that the South Atlantic league schedule would been changed, the second half of the season to start June 10, instead of June 19, as originally provided in the schedule. The season will come to a close July 25 instead of August 15, the date originally set.

Mr. Corish said that the schedule had been curtailed for purely business reasons and that the league's condition financially was thoroughly sound. The club will reduce to eleven men each, necessitating the playing of a pitcher in the outfield. The players will be tendered new contracts and given the option of signing them or being declared free agents.

In regard to the situation at Columbia, Mr. Corish said that the franchise surrendered to the league Saturday night had been awarded other citizens in Columbia and that the club troubles had been adjusted. The Columbia team will open a series here against Savannah tomorrow.

COBB SHOULD HIT MORE THAN EVER

Has Running Start This Season, Something He Has Never Enjoyed in the Past.

By Dick Jemison.

Tyrus Raymond Cobb seems destined to have the greatest year in his history. The great Georgian is off to a running start this season, something that he does not usually enjoy.

Cobb has led the American league for the past eight seasons, and seems destined to lead it in this his ninth. But in the past seasons this time of the year Cobb was usually trailing several of the other stars.

It is July and August that Cobb usually does his greatest damage to the pitching averages of several, if not all, of the pitchers in the American league. In these months he hits closer to .500 than he does to .300.

Off to a start that is better by a hundred points than he usually possesses at this time of year, if he maintains his clip in July and August this season, he'll probably eat all existing batting records.

Cobb's ambition is to surpass the batting mark of the American league, which is .422, and is held by Napoleon Lajoie, made away back in the earlier days of the Johnson organization. And at his present clip he is in fair way to reach that goal.

Cobb is at present leading the league in hitting, the number of hits made, the number of runs scored and in bases stolen. He is batting in .510 at present, and in this also he'll give some one a chase just as soon as he gets his mind on it.

Cobb is satisfied at Detroit this season, pleased with his surroundings and with the terms of his contract, and when a ball player feels that way he is likely to make considerable trouble for the rest of the bunch, especially when he has such large gobs of natural ability and ambition as Cobb possesses.

Queries Answered.

(Under this head the sporting editor will endeavor to answer all questions pertaining to all branches of sports.)

1. Where did Albany get Hitchcock from? 2. Where was Harry Holland in baseball circles? 3. Where did Roy Moran play last season? 4. Do you think that Hank Gilbert will come around in his batting? J. P. C.

1. He is the former Albany Senator star. 2. Holland was with Minneapolis, in the American Association, and Comiskan with Providence in the International league. 3. In the Pacific Coast league. 4. I hope so.

CAMPAIGN IN HOLLAND FOR NEW INDUSTRIES

War Has Caused Dutch to Realize Need of Making Country More Independent.

The Hague, Netherlands.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Attention is being given in business circles in Holland to the question of the possibility of creating new industries in this country and by this means rendering The Netherlands more independent of other countries in the event in the future of a similar crisis arising to that brought about by the present European war. Numbers of industrial men have taken the subject under consideration, but nothing definite has yet been proposed. The fact that people in most instances, are unaware of the possibilities in the way of investment in their own country, and generally place their capital abroad instead of uniting in an effort to keep their money at home, where, with proper organization, the returns would be just as high as those they receive from foreign investments, while the starting of home industries would be useful in providing work for their fellow-countrymen, who are sorely hit by a crisis such as that now prevailing.

Several Industries Ruined.

Owing to Holland's dependence on materials from outside, several of the national industries have for the time being been ruined, and those employed in them have been thrown out of work. For instance, the sugar factories and refineries, of which there are thirty in Holland, had been hadly effected, in the first place by the prohibition of the export of sugar beet from Germany, Austria-Hungary and Belgium, and in the second place by the refusal of England to permit imports of sugar from Holland owing to fears that German sugar might come into the British isles in that way. The Netherlands government also forbade the export of sugar for a time, but later decided to allow the prohibition and permitted the sugar manufacturers and refiners to export 50 per cent in the raw state and 42 per cent refined, while retaining the other 40 per cent of the total in the country for home consumption. England also raise the ban on Dutch sugar after receiving assurances that no sugar from Germany should be sent over the channel as Dutch. The lack of imported beets, however, caused many of the factories and refineries to close down or reduce the number of their employees, who, in all, total 10,000. This state of affairs in the sugar trade also affected other branches directly connected with it, such as sack and packing case makers and the transport workers on the many internal waterways of Holland over which the beets and the manufactured sugar are carried. To meet the eventuality of such conditions arising again in future, it has been decided to cultivate at least double the quantity of sugar beet in Holland, and some of the men thrown out of work have been employed in planting the seed for the next harvest. As a rule the Dutch sugar factories deliver several hundred thousand tons of raw sugar yearly. From 20 to 25 per cent of it is sent in this condition to England, the remainder being refined in Holland, together with the large quantities of raw sugar generally imported from the other continental countries. England also takes about 250,000 tons of refined sugar from Holland every year.

Gold and Silver Trade.

Another group of trades which has suffered enormously through the war is that composed of gold and silversmiths and diamond workers. It was found impossible to procure the necessary metals for the fabrication of the innumerable souvenir articles so much sought after by tourists, while those countries which are the best customers for trinkets—Belgium, France, Germany and the Scandinavian nations—showed no desire to purchase what are generally considered luxuries, and there has besides been a lack of tourists since the war began. Some of the factories found employment for part of their men in making brass buttons for soldiers' uniforms, for which there has been an extraordinary demand owing to the calling out of the Dutch army. Some of the manufacturers, however, felt themselves unable to put the necessary capital into the acquirement of the machinery required for this temporary work, and consequently the men were thrown into the ranks of the unemployed. The diamond setters and polishers are entirely idle.

The building trades have probably been hurt more than any other branch of industry by the war. Bricklayers and their laborers, carpenters, masons, painters, plumbers and riveters can find nothing to do. The contractors have been prevented from carrying out their contracts partly by the difficulty of obtaining materials, but the chief reason of the slackness is the hesitation of would-be house-owners to give orders for the erection of residences. Some of the building societies, founded on the co-operative basis, have continued the building of houses for their members, and municipalities have not ceased to carry out the construction of workers' dwellings for renting to the poorer classes. This activity has not, however, been sufficient to stem the rising tide of unemployment. The lack of timber, drawn chiefly from Riga and Archangel, and freestone and cement, from Belgium, is greatly felt. Granite, much of it imported from Bavaria and Norway, is not unobtainable or, if it can be had, costs very high transportation rates, while Belgium and Italy have ceased sending marble, and very little of this stone is to be had from Germany. Construction iron from Lorraine, Westphalia and the Rhine is still to be had, but it takes double the usual length of time for transportation, while the formalities and papers necessary to obtain permission for imports form a constant source of annoyance and expense.

HEAVY CASUALTY LISTS FOR THE BRITISH FORCES

London, June 7.—(3:09 a. m.)—The casualty lists for the week-end are the heaviest issued since the war began. They include 80 officers and 5,429 men, of whom 1,674 were killed. This brings the total British losses during the last week to 900 officers and 20,000 men.

The Horses of War.

It is very interesting to learn that 1,500 horses have left this port on the Gascogne, bound for the French army, and that even the bridal suite on that none too commodious liner will be dedicated to their shelter. It would be still more interesting to know how many of these will be wasted by negligence on the battlefield.

The English press recently compared the attention to horses in their army with the lack of care given in the German army, and attributed the great losses in the latter to the fact that wounds were not treated, with the consequence that a wounded horse became practically a dead horse. In the English army veterinary surgeons have done good work, and many a horse has been saved in the interest not only of common humanity, but of economy as well.

France has not been conspicuous for her kindness to her equine friends, saving her good offices for the ubiquitous native dog, so far as the observation of foreign visitors may be trusted. She will be wise, however, if in this dire emergency she thriftily conserves her supply of horses. It is not every day that a liner can sail with 1,500 patient beasts from our shores.

DUTCH BOOKSELLERS CATER TO ALL TASTES

Equal Space Given to Pro-German and Pro-Ally Books With Dutch Literature Between.

The Hague, Netherland.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The canny Dutch bookseller strives to please all tastes and satisfy all demands by attempting to divide his shop space scrupulously into equal parts, in one of which the German propaganda is spread out, while another is devoted to French, English and Belgian polemical literature. A frontier of Dutch works separates the two.

The division, however, is not always easy to make with accuracy. "Germany and England," by Houston Stewart Chamberlain, in English, appears on the latter counter, assigned to the allied literature, although pro-German. On the other hand, the writings of such British opponents of the war as Norman Angell appear in the Dutch section, translated into the tongue of the lowlands. James M. Beck's "The Belgian Case," and "Germany and Democracy," by Agnes Repplier and William White, have been similarly presented to the Dutch public. In the same section, but from still another angle, is the really remarkable product of this war, "The Diary of Stijn Streuvels—In War-time." This is in Flemish, the author, whose real name is Frank Latour, having been a baker's apprentice in his native land, Belgium, though he was also nephew of the Abbe Guido Gezelle, a well-known Belgian poet and translator of Longfellow's "Hiawatha."

Among the Dutch books produced by the war are a number of serious studies, as "In World War and Social Democracy," by P. J. Troelstra, The Netherlands socialist leader, is the most pretentious of three. "At the Front and in Belgium," by General A. J. Prins, retired, of the Dutch army, is a soldier's unvarnished narrative of merit; while "War Psychology," by Dr. P. J. Roes-man, of The Hague, and "War Philosophy," by Leo Polak, of the University of Amsterdam, are more technical studies of the effect of the war. Two other Netherlands universities have contributed to Dutch war literature: "The European War," by Dr. G. W. Kernkamp, of Utrecht, and "The Economic War," by Dr. C. A. Verijn Stuart, of Groningen Universities.

The belligerent sections of the bookshops often show the same subject treated from opposite sides, Count Julius Andrassy, of Hungary, for example, in German, on one hand, and M. M. Durkheim and Denis in French on the other, write on the origins of the war. The German sections contain the "Deutsche Kriegschriften," by various authors, devoted to critical comment on the politics and character of Germany's enemies, while the French sections contain a remarkable series of brochures issued by Armand Colin, of Paris, called "Pages of History—1914-15."

The numerous gray, red, white, orange and other colored official statements of the causes of the war are omnipresent in every language.

As in Germany, the cities of Holland are almost as closely sown with bookshops as the fields of the lowlands are with windmills. The long freedom from the restraints of any copyright laws—a relic of the days when almost every revolutionary brochure bore the imprint of Amsterdam, and Holland alone stood for the liberty of the press—fostered scores of shops where books in every western European tongue and on every conceivable theme were offered for sale. The works of popular French, German and English authors were frankly pirated, or adapted to the Dutch taste and reprinted under Dutch titles. This arrangement made for cheap books and large profits to booksellers, and so for many shops, stalls and barrows where such books can still be bought, notwithstanding the enactment of a copyright law.

CHIEF KILLED BY AUTO HE SIGNALLED TO STOP

Scranton, Pa., June 6.—Henry Reese, chief of police of Dickson county borough, near here, was run down and killed tonight when he stepped into the roadway to signal an automobile alleged to have been exceeding the speed limit to stop. There was room for the car to pass the policeman, but the chauffeur lost control of the steering wheel in trying to avoid the collision.

ONLY SIXTEEN, GIRL VERY SICK

Tells How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

New Orleans, La.—"I take pleasure in writing these lines to express my gratitude to you. I am only 16 years old and work in a tobacco factory. I have been a very sick girl but I have improved wonderfully since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am now looking fine and feeling a thousand times better." —Miss AMELIA JAQUILLARD, 3961 Tchoupitoulas St., New Orleans, La.

St. Clair, Pa.—"My mother was alarmed because I was troubled with suppression and had pains in my back and side, and severe headaches. I had pimples on my face, my complexion was sallow, my sleep was disturbed, I had nervous spells, was very tired and had no ambition. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has worked like a charm in my case and has regulated me. I worked in a mill among hundreds of girls and have recommended your medicine to many of them."—Miss ESTELLA MAGUIRE, 110 Thwing St., St. Clair, Pa.

There is nothing that teaches more than experience. Therefore, such letters from girls who have suffered and were restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be a lesson to others. The same remedy is within reach of all.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

CARNEGIE FOUNDATION TO ADVANCE TEACHING

New York, June 6.—The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching shows a total endowment of $14,250,000, a surplus of $1,245,000, an annual income of $748,000, and an annual expenditure of $716,000 for the year ending September 30, 1914, according to the ninth annual report made public tonight. Of this amount, $33,0000 was spent in administration, $47,000 in educational inquiry and $634,000 in retiring allowances and pensions, says the report.

The total expenditure for allowances since the beginning of the foundation is $3,551,000.

The study of legal education, undertaken at the suggestion of the American Bar association, the report states, has resulted in the publication of a survey of the case system of teaching in American law schools by Professor Josef Redlich, of the University of Vienna. Material already accumulated represents the combined effort of some forty legal scholars, teachers and attorneys.

In co-operation with six national engineering schools, the report continued, the study of engineering education and a study of the history of important engineering schools and land grant colleges has been made. Many schools have been visited.

A study of the training of teachers in Missouri is being made.

A study of education was made in Vermont, and as a result, the report says, many of the foundation's recommendations have been enacted into law. Larger salaries for teachers in rural districts were urged especially.

The foundation's earlier studies of medical education are continued in this report in recommendations for changes in the classification of medical schools.

SETTING MEXICO RIGHT.

It seems that the United States must soon play the part of the big brother to Mexico. Impossibility of accord on the part of the revolutionary leaders, and their lack of control over the men comprising their forces, has made this action on our part inevitable. It had to come, and now that the emergency is here we may as well face it with a determination to see it through to a successful conclusion.

There is perhaps no one sufficiently ill-informed as to the character and motives of the revolutionary leaders, to imagine for a moment that they will pay any attention whatever to President Wilson's warning note. We anticipate nothing from them but the same old threats of "union against a common enemy," and more of the Huerta talk about "the last drop of Mexican blood," if the United States attempt to interfere. So we may as well make up our minds that, with the lapse of reasonable time, we have got to do our duty to the world, to humanity and to the starving population of a revolution-ridden country.

If there was reason for our intervention in Cuba there is vastly more reason why we should straighten out the Mexican situation and put that country again on its feet. The people of Cuba were simply oppressed by tyrannical rule; the people of Mexico have been plundered to the point of starvation and, in many cases, death, by those who call themselves their countrymen. Citizens of America and other countries have been murdered in cold blood and their property stolen.

Our action in the case of Cuba, in setting that country on its feet, after harmonizing conflicting elements and restoring peace, and then turning it over to its own people, will be a sufficient guarantee to the world in general and to Mexico, excepting the leaders of the brigands, in particular, of the sincerity and honesty of our intentions, so well expressed in President Wilson's note. The United States, the president points out, want nothing for itself in Mexico. But it would be at least unneighborly in us, as well as derelict in a measure to the rest of the world, to permit Mexico to go to her own ruin without stretching out a hand to save her.

And there is no doubt that the vast majority of the people of Mexico—not merely those whom gaunt famine is threatening, but the large conservative element as well—will warmly welcome such assistance as we may give in restoring peace and setting them and their country once more on the road to prosperity.

The work is to be done, when the time for it comes, as President Wilson indicates, in co-operation with some strong Mexican leader who has his country's interests at heart; and once the right man is found, the rest will be easy. A year or two ago any section of this sort on our part would have been practically out of the question; interference of any sort would have presented a serious and difficult problem. But Mexico did not then know what she knows today. Experience has taught her a severe lesson, and nothing short of lunacy could impel her people generally to push back the hand stretched out to help. Nor do we believe they will.

In handling the Mexican situation, President Wilson has demonstrated the same qualities of patriotic yet conservative statesmanship which he has exhibited in the correspondence with Germany over the Lusitania incident; and which have impelled the admiration alike of political friend and foe. It is these qualities that give us confidence as to the outcome in both cases—results which we do not doubt will command world approval, without any headlong or hysterical rushing into unreasoned and unnecessary conflict.

THE FRIENDLY FIGHTERS.

If all the brighter human interest stories that come from the battle lines on the western front are genuine the men behind the guns are very friendly fighters!

These stories seldom vary in the light they cast on the war-shadows—in their effort to illustrate the brotherly feeling that exists between enemies. We are introduced to love-feasts between battles, to playground-space from trench to trench, to songs on the French side encored by the Germans—to a ringing chorus of good will that rises and falls like a blessing and rebuke to the guns that "wait and watch for prey."

The stories make good reading; they give glimpses of "the bright side of war," for which the optimists and advocates of world-peace have been seeking in its darkness, and one of the latest incidents of "humanity in the trenches"—in harmony with many preceding it—is related in The Washington Post, in an interview with Dr. Emil Scharf, of Berlin:

"There was a lull in the fighting. The contending forces were as close as from the white house to Lafayette Park. It happened that two of the contending soldiers spoke a common language—French. The German, on the one side, in the lull of the fighting, said to the Frenchman, 'There's going to be a moving picture show in town tonight.'

"'I wish I could go to that show," said the Frenchman.

"'Well, maybe I can fix it for you," said the German.

"'But there are a half dozen of us," returned the French soldier.

"'All right; come around a little later,' said the German.

That night a dozen French soldiers went to see the movies in La Bassee, the enemy's country.

We know how the kaiser frowned on the mingling of German and English troops when there was a "battle-recess" and barred an exchange of courtesies when there was no killing going on; but it seems that the only way to kill the good feeling is to kill the men!

Where are the "Songs of Hate?" The soldiers are not singing them! Their guns laid aside for the moment, no chorus of hate ascends from the trenches; it is their business to kill, but not to hate.

The soldiers sing the songs of Home. Hate does not enter there. When the homegates closed behind them, leaving love, they also took love with them. War has not deadened the gentler human instincts—with all of them. Men who were MEN at home are men in battle. The higher nature asserts itself whenever there is opportunity for the exercise of its kindly influences.

These "brighter side" stories relieve the gloom of the darker ones. Songs of hate may be fine music to kings who fight to keep their thrones. They are not music to the men who face each other in the wonderful war. They sing the songs of Home!

REACHING THE PEOPLE.

Popular interest in agricultural development in the south is marked in two recent incidents—the gift by the general education board of New York of $140,650 to be distributed among the rural and secondary schools of the south through the extension work of the state colleges of agriculture; and the smaller gift of $1,500 from the Georgia Bankers' association to be given the same direction in scholarships to deserving students.

The gift of the general education board defines one of its strongest policies, that of co-operating in movements already expressing the interest of a state or locality, while the scholarship fund established by the Georgia bankers illustrates an interest that all business men should feel in the state department of education, especially as the department bears upon agricultural development.

Various agencies convinced of the needs of practical education in the south to promote broader interest in agricultural life have been at work. The government has co-operated in the department of farm demonstration in boys' corn clubs, girls' canning clubs, in poultry and dairy clubs, and in this work the state women's organizations are doing their part.

The time has come now when all of these influences must be assembled, to work for the strength and better facilities of the rural and secondary schools of Georgia. They represent the logical center through which the college of agriculture can extend its practical work, and through the right kind of schools the people can be drawn to see the value of training to themselves and to their children. As this practical training increases, Georgia's illiteracy will decrease, and the success of her agricultural life will be accordingly measured.

To bring about this success is not the obligation of any one element of people, nor the function of any one agency nor organization, for the progress of Georgia's agricultural life would touch and quicken every part of state prosperity.

The call is timely now for all Georgians to express their practical interest by joining in a campaign for better rural and secondary schools. Work in this direction might begin in the effort to secure from the legislature the necessary appropriation from Georgia to make sure her quota of the government appropriation for practical agricultural training through the schools as proposed in the Smith-Lever bill. The bill requires that the states becoming beneficiaries must duplicate in appropriations from the state the amount that would be theirs from the government fund.

To help in this, as in every movement which has in view practical education for the people, becomes not only the obligation of progressive citizens, but the duty of all patriotic Georgians.

RIPPLING RHYMES

THE EAST WIND.

"The wind is in the east," the chronic croaker sighed; "that zephyr is a beast, it fills with pain my hide. Whenever east winds white across the diggers lea, eight kinds of rheumatic begin to torture me." So he sits down to groan, and calls for the police, and rubs his old shin bone with liniment and grease. When people thus are prone to a certain wind will bring some ill beyond a cure, their guess comes true, by jing. For superstition makes of grief a vast amount, it brings more pains and aches than you and I could count. Now let the croaker greet the east wind with a grin, and say, "You can't be here—the portals would surely win! You cannot bring disease, or make my hockjoints sick; no blamed old tin horn breeze can play that sort of trick!" The wind will whoop and sizz, and try to fill his frame with jumping rheumatis, and then give up the game, if you invite disease. And say please, and know you out of plumb. But if defiance bold you hand the microbe mob, the feet of germs grow cold, and they throw up the job.

ATLANTA BOY, NOW A PAULIST, SAYS FIRST SOLEMN HIGH MASS; REV. LEWIS J. O'HERN PREACHES

Before a large congregation of friends and relatives Father Joseph A. Morris, who was ordained May 29 by his eminence, Cardinal Farley, in St. Patrick's cathedral, New York, said his first solemn high mass Sunday morning at the Church of the Immaculate Conception. The celebrant has the distinction of being the only native Georgian to be a member of the Paulist community, an organization within the Catholic church which is distinctly of American origin. Father Morris will leave for New York next week, where he will be assigned to one of the houses of the Paulist fathers by the superior general.

Father Lewis J. O'Hern, C. S. P., professor of doctrinal theology, Catholic University of America at Washington, D. C., and one of the famous preachers of the Paulist order, delivered the sermon. Father O'Hern is well known in the south, where he has preached in every important city and town. He has three brothers living in Atlanta and another brother, Major E. P. O'Hern, is head of the ordnance department of the United States army.

Father O'Hern's Sermon.

Father O'Hern's very eloquent sermon follows:

"For I have received of the Lord that which also I delivered unto you, that the Lord Jesus, the same night in which he was betrayed, took bread, and giving thanks, broke, and said: 'Take ye, and eat: this is My Body, which shall be given for you. This do for the commemoration of Me.'

"This was the last supper, the table, after He had supped, saying: 'This chalice is the New Testament in My blood. This do ye as often as you shall drink for the commemoration of Me. For as often as you shall eat this bread, and drink the chalice, you shall shew the death of the Lord, until He come.' 1 Corinthians 11:23-27.

"The sacrifice of the mass, celebrated as the principal public act of divine worship in the Catholic church, is a great puzzle to those who have not become familiar with the reasons for which have grown up in the church establishment. It seems strange to them, and actually they find it almost unreasonable, apparently so antiquated and so much at variance with the customs of the age, should be adhered to by a church, so wise in many respects, as the Catholic church. They even find it hard to imagine the necessity for a worship of sacrifice at all. They contend that the forms of those preached which with civilization passed forever away.

"As opposed to those who see no necessity for a worship or sacrifice at all, we even go so far as to say that the impulse to offer sacrifice is so primitive, so universal, we believe it to be traceable to some primitive revelation made by God to man. Else how back to the very beginning, and you will find that the offering of sacrifice is as old as the race itself. Abel offered to the Lord the firstlings of his flock, and Cain the fruits of the earth. Abraham and Job offered up holocausts, and Melchisedech was a priest of the most high God who offered a sacrifice of bread and wine. The savage and barbarous inhabitants of the New World, had nothing else to guide them than the principle of reason, worshiped in various ways the gods whom they ignorant and invariably it took the form of sacrifice. From the history of ancient Greece and Rome, which must forever stand before the world, as the highest products of a pagan type of civilization, we learn that there, too, the form employed in performing their solemn public religious worship was sacrificial.

God Sanctions Sacrifice.

"But side by side with these two pagan nations of the ancient world, there dwelt a special race of people, whose glory and whose name passed forever away, by the destruction of the Temple. While Rome was seated on her seven hills, the proud mistress of the world, and Athens boasted of her matchless height of intellectual splendor from the holy hill of Sion, Jerusalem, the city of peace, was the world's center. And here among the chosen people whom God himself had selected from all mankind to preserve the knowledge of the Truth, and whose government the entered to rule, was offered up Himself. sacrifice was offered by positive divine command. Long every book of the Bible we see given forth on Sinai's height, God had directed the people to offer a sacrifice of various kinds. Indeed, sacrifice was so wholly a part of religious life that without it religion to the Israelite was simply inconceivable. All that he had, all that he reckoned dear as a nation and as an individual, was bound up with it, and more, for the law of Moses that the men who worshiped the true God, and alone gave Him acceptable worship.

"In the second Temple of Jerusalem, the national sacrifice attained its most imposing form. It must be a most splendid spectacle, that annual holocaust to God, those victims slain for the whole people. Terrace upon terrace, a flight of marble and glittering gold, the temple rose before the Jews' fond eyes. The most important, the highest up, stood the great altar of sacrifice, built of unhewn stone, and here the ranged priests and Levites, clad in their white garments. The victim, a gentle lamb, was bound to the altar, and then slain by the sacrificing priest, its red blood was caught up in golden bowls and sprinkled about the four corners of the altar. Then it was that the faithful Israelite, who beheld Jehovah putting away their sins. But all this came to an end. Daniel had foretold that the temple sacrifice would cease, and that in the holy place should be 'the abomination of desolation' (Dan. 12:11). It was a fearful picture, and to the Jews could soon have been no less heart-rending than God's true worship amid the waves of idolatry that were to overwhelm the world.

Prophet Foretells New Sacrifice.

"But another prophet arose—Malachias—the last of God's teachers sent to the elder race, and he has a word for the people. Though the temple should fall, and the sacrifice come to an end, the Holy City, yet would raise up for Himself another priesthood, even among the despised Gentiles, and this sacrifice offered in Jerusalem, not only in the temple only, but over the whole wide world, a continual, unbloody victim, most pure and spotless, lifted ever to the Lord of Hosts. 'For,' says he, speaking in the great name of God, 'from the rising of the sun, even to the going down of the same, My name is great among the Gentiles.'

"And in every place there is sacrifice, and there shall be offered to My name a clean oblation, for My name shall be great among the heathen, saith the Lord of Hosts.' (Malachias i, 11.)

"The years passed on, and it was time in God's wisdom for the prophecy to be fulfilled and the new sacrifice instituted. It was the night of Paschal solemnity, and when the great things in Israel's history were always brought to mind. Jerusalem was filled with strangers to celebrate the festival. Every house was decorated gaily for the great feat of the night, the streets were thronged with people, and an important crowd filled the temple, where the lambs, by his lamb, ritely slain, for already the hour approached, the sacrificial meal.

"In an upper chamber where the spring sun cast its long westerly beams, the Master had gathered around Him His apostles to celebrate the Paschal feast for the last time, for its prophecy shall be fulfilled on the morrow—when the Lamb of God, the true God, shall die on the cross. All was ready, the lamb, slain in the temple, had been roasted, the bitter herbs gathered, and all was laid on the table, with the bread and the cup of wine. The Master and His friends sat about the table, and ate the meal according to the usual rite. Then came a pause. All were waiting, though they knew not for what. It was one of the great moments of the world, for God was about to give to His creatures a gift so magnificent, so royal, that none but He could comprehend it. But the world knew it not, for from without rose the noise of the holiday crowd, hastening each to his own home. The apostles knew it not, although they felt the mighty arm of some great thing that they not understand.

Christ Offers First Mass.

"Then our Lord lifted to Heaven His lovely face, for this time was come. Into His sacred hands He took a piece of the unleavened bread, blessed it, and broke it, and bade His disciples eat of it, because it was His body He was breaking for them. 'Take ye and eat. This is My body.' Then He said, He, 'as a memorial of Me.' They all received and ate, accepting with fear the broken bread from His hands, for had He not told them, as they remembered, 'that the bread He should give them was His flesh, which He should give them for the life of the world?' (St. John VI, 52.) Such was the promise and it must be duly fulfilled.

"Then again, our Lord took the cup—the cup hallowed by use only in the Paschal rite—and blessing it, gave it into their hands, assuring them that it was not wine, but His blood which He was pouring forth for them, blood of a new covenant, greater and more precious than any blood of sheep or goat slain in the legal rite. 'Drink ye all of this,' for this is My blood of the New Testament, which shall be shed for you and for many unto the remission of sins.' And reverently they received it. So the new sacrifice was established; the old had passed forever away.

"And when our Lord was gone, His apostles united, and going about the world, everywhere established it, thus fulfilling the prophecy of Malachias, so over the whole earth and there is nowhere that this victim is not offered, and the victim there immolating upon which their eyes so often look.

"There is no college campus," he said, "that is not marked by graves where lie hopes, power or character of some who have sought to enter into light.

"The first cause of the weakness of the college man who fails is the cause of all failures in life—sin. A college campus is only a part of the greater world where moral battle is ceaseless.

"I am well acquainted with the contention that a college is not a forsemanship of the Sunday school, and to a certain degree. But after all the fact remains plain that a college has a religious function and cannot escape its responsibilities. However precious our time may be we can do no greater thing than to save that which is lost.

"Another type of failure is because men can't stand the day of graduation, the seeming perfection of the educational art, trained in mind, master in the world of thought, and then to be suddenly translated and brought forth an agreeable, content and sparkling wisdom. We want to see the stupendous wealth of Georgia would rather send forth to work than many thousands of cultured weaklings."

Dr. Durham said such men were needed in journalism, in literature, in the political life and in the pulpit of God.

In conclusion, he said:

"Under the influence of this intellectual failure is shown in the man who has failed to find his place in life. He is all out of gear, he is fit and ready to pass into life. But one with eyes fine enough can see a restless-ness in him. No one can help but hear the low moan of something that moves in a blind pain of unfulfillment. Confessors have not found him and he has not found himself, and he goes on to begin a work for which God never intended. Let him repent heartedly and without joy. COMMENCEMENT OF THE TECH BOYS OPENED ON SUNDAY

The commencement exercises of the Georgia School of Technology began Sunday with the opening of the baccalaureate sermon by Dr. Plato Durham at the North avenue Presbyterian church.

Besides the students of the school there was a large congregation to enjoy the services and hear a very able and interesting sermon.

Dr. Durham said he would speak to them of the men who fail with a hope that his words might help to present to them something upon which their eyes so often look.

HOW ATLANTANS BROKE INTO NEW YORK NEWSPAPER GAME

The following interesting story by Alfred C. Newell, the well-known insurance man of Atlanta, appears in the current issue of The World Forum, a little magazine issued for the workers and former workers of the New York World:

By Alfred C. Newell.

Tradition-mongers cannot avoid the use of personal pronouns. It is in order, however, at the outset to offer, with true Irvin Cobb modesty, an apology for the use of "I" and "me."

I suppose I can qualify as a World Forum tradition-monger, although ten years' absence from Park Row scarcely entitles one to the name. This period, however, seems very long when it is recalled that "Thirty" has been sent up for so many old associates of the dear old golden dome days. If I could jump back now on the city hall political job with the survivors of the crew which assisted in forpedoing Tammany with ice trust stories we would have to turn down an empty glass for many star-scattered fellows.

There was Pat Sheehan, whom I first knew as a Montauk Point war correspondent; "Al" Downs, always the affable; Walter Hawley, the analytical and introspective; Riordan, who could get a lead story out of broken air time; dear old Boffey, the perspiringly conscientious little Englishman; "Wally" Root, the misogynist—until his sentimental days; Herr Rachow; Alsman Roosevelt—they are all gone. Just the difference of a decade is some difference. It puts me logically in the class of tradition-mongers.

We landed in New York—"Bob" Adamson and I—the Greater City had just been amalgamated. We considered ourselves post-graduates of The Atlanta Constitution. Adamson had a "drag" with Walter Howard, who had preceded us to New York and who had flashed immediately into first magnitude proportions with Hearst. This landed "Bob," for the time being, on the Journal.

I did not have the chromatic qualities of that sheet during those pioneer days of yellowism. So I futilely nursed a batch of southern euphemisms to my wasteful ire. These letters of introduction might have impressed the nation if I had been picked up dead from contact with a Broadway car, but here they would have spelled Cleopatra's needle down from Central Park and put it on the site of my demise, so beautiful were my southern tributes to my ability. I had been reduced to "beef and" at Johnny Meehan's before I realized that these letters of introduction did not get you anywhere in a New York newspaper shop. So, one day, about noon in A. D. '97, I brushed aside the Cerberus-mugged door in the old Park Row office and tackled a flinty-faced city editor—Eddy, by name.

"Why are you here?"

"To get a job," I replied.

"Who told you to come back?"

"You did."

"I told you nothing of the kind."

"You are a—liar," I seethed.

"What did you say your name is?" asked Eddy with polite interest.

"Newell, from Atlanta."

"Well, Mr. Newell, please have a seat."

First New York Job.

This was my first New York job. It lasted one week.

"Where did you get the name of the man who made that speech at Carnegie hall last night?" asked Loenthal, then managing editor. I came in Tuesday morning following my job-getting.

"From the program," I answered.

"Well, it's all right for Atlanta," was Loenthal's cheerful rejoinder. "You got the name of the retiring president of that society. The man who made the speech last night was Spencer E. Trask, president of the New York Times company."

It was my first experience with "the iron ball." I drew down a pay slip with $12.75 and headed for Mouquin's. The joit was a little severe, so I decided to think it over on a full stomach. I had reached "Bar-le-duc" and "Jervais" on my elaborate menu when "Dick" Outcault came by my table. He had been a visitor to the Cotton States exposition of 1895 and was then on his dash into public notice with the Yellow Kid series. Outcault inquired to get me a job—another job. We walked up to the World building and I was introduced to "Neise" Hirsch, the city editor. Outcault left me and was then on the day desk—all of which reminds me that Kentucky and Georgia had the edge, so far as numbers were concerned, on the World staff in those days. In the line-up were "Lige" Kelley, Douglas, Bob Wooley, Henry Procter Waugh, Joe Johnson, Sam Crawford, Ivy Lee and a lot of other rebels.

If you would know about my first assignment on The World, ask "Phil" Speed about the cowboy murder in the Williamsburg district and our interview with the murderer at the Raymond Street jail. "Phil" was one of Hearst's little, early white hopes. It was while on that story in Brooklyn that I met St. Clair McKelway, and through him Pomeroy Burton, of The Eagle. With the proposition of a straight salary which "Roy" Burton dangled before me I decided to farm out over on the other side of the bridge rather than waste the exigencies of space stuff in the sterner strife of New York.

The Cataclysm.

Later, Joseph Pulitzer's personal orders caused Burton to be pitched unceremoniously in Brooklyn and slam-banged down in The World shop with full authority to do things. The result was the Sunday World's cataclysmic. Burton had been pictured to "J. P." as a man with an insatiate capacity for work. He had come from Ohio some years before and by strides jumped from an Eagle stereotyping machinate to the foremanship of the composing room, reporter, city editor, and to the executive head of The Eagle. Herbert Gunnison excepted. Burton was so green to New York ways that, Adamson will tell you, when we moved over from Flatbush to the Waldorf in order to find out how people did things in this terra incognita, Burton might have been feeling his way socially, but he was sure of his footing under the dome. I want Jack Slaight, Gus Reeder or Ike White to write the story sometime of Burton at midnight—Night Burton and Joe Quail. It was when we got out the famous tabloid edition of The World that Burton found out Adamson and some years later put him at the head of his fifty-seven varieties of English publications, including The London Times. Does any one know what Adamson is doing now?

Adamson, who had quit Hearst and served on the afternoon Sun, was also on The Eagle. Burton was not long in getting him on The World. "Bob" had also "evoluted." Once, when we first came up from Georgia and while we were living along Riverside Park, "Bob" in advance, as usual, with an option on the land side of which was inscribed "Pater Patriae."

"Who is that, Bob?" I asked.

"Don't know," he answered—"Peter Patrae was his name. One of those early Dutch governors of New Amsterdam, I reckon."

In justice to the Fire Commissioner it might be remarked that the likeness of George Washington was rather rare.

The Reaction.

It was during the régime of Burton that the reaction against the intense yellowism set in. When I first came on The World any normal interview, to carry, had to be lurid to suit the sensational taste to which one. Reporters ceased to ply their trade and became special commissioners. Under orders from Burton I undertook to show some of the new journalism brought to New York by the long limbed chap from California was rooted out. The World veered back to normal.

Some of Mr. Pulitzer's secretaries have written books and magazine stories about their experiences with him, but I must state, I might take a day off some time and tell of my tryout down at Lakewood; how Colonel William Barrett, our editorial dean, advised me of the valuable experience I was about to gather; how for two weeks I was coached in "it" methods of interpreting a newspaper; how I was finally, with his wonderful hands outstretched and the greeting, "I am not such an old ogre after all, am I."

Two unfortunate differences must intervened; at any rate they say an unprecedented reconciliation came between Billing and "J. P." and I left the shop just as the remorseless catechism of analyzing the New York papers for him. Upon my return to the regular police run at Police Headquarters the old shop seemed soggy but none the less welcome, for the effort to keep pace with the myriad-minded man with whom I had been associated for a day or two was too much for my wilted intellect.

After four years on The World I yielded to the call of the south and returned home.

I notice that "Jake" Cantor says that life in Park Row during his newspaper days was neither exciting nor interesting. "Jake" must have been a "dead one" during his early days.

Earning His Trousers.

(From The Philadelphia Inquirer.)

A village clergyman, walking round his parish, met a small urchin sauntering. "Well, John," he said, "how is it I have not seen you at church for several Sundays?" "Hain't got no trousers," was the answer. "Well, well," said he clergyman, "I think we can remedy that. I'm short of a boy, and if you follow three Sundays John was seen at church. The trousers were duly sent, and the following three Sundays John was seen at church. Meeting the clergyman some time, the clergyman again met him.

"Well, John," he said, "you have no excuse for not coming to church lately. How is it I have not seen you there?" "Look here, parson," said John, "I like a man to speak plain. I know what you mean; you're a-thinking about them trousers. I come to church three Sundays, an', if you don't think I earned them trousers, just tell me how many more Sundays I shall ha' to come afore they're mine altogether!"

140 Girls to Graduate From Georgia Normal and Industrial College

Milledgeville, Ga., June 5.—(Special.) On the eve of being inaugurated governor of the state Judge Nat E. Harris of Macon, is to address the 860 students of the Georgia Normal and Industrial college next Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

At that time diplomas will be awarded to 140 girls, the largest number of young women to ever graduate in one year from a Georgia college. All of these young women are from Georgia.

One of the features of the commencement days at G. N. I. C. will be "open house" Monday, when over 3,000 visitors are expected. President Parks states that he has every reason to look for that many, as the school has made hundred of new friends during the past few months.

The college is closing the most successful year in the history of the institution. The total attendance has been 861.

The college has been unable to accommodate one-half of those who have applied for entrance within the present year. During the past six years about 4,000 students have been refused admission to the college because of a lack of room. These are startling facts.

The recent rapid growth of the college is gratifying; the increased attendance, the new buildings, the attractive equipment, the harmonious organization, the fine college spirit—all these are encouraging. But more important than temporary success is the influence a college exerts in the formation of correct ideals. This G. N. I. C. tries to accomplish.

Rev. Richard Orme Flinn, pastor of the North Avenue Presbyterian church, of Atlanta, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon next Sunday before the 140 graduates of the Georgia Normal and Industrial college at Milledgeville.

Sunday marks the closing of one of the most successful years of the Milledgeville institution, and since this is the largest class to ever graduate from a Georgia college in one year Rev. Mr. Flinn accepts the invitation with gratitude.

The graduates are as follows:

President—Allie Myrick, Sledgeville. Vice President—Vesta Owens, Canon. Secretary—Agnes Wiley, Sparta. Treasurer—Clora Dukes, Clarkston.

Atkinson Hall Vice President—Maggie Jenkins, Dooling.

Dozier House Vice President—Lee Pyland, Carrollton.

Mansion Vice President—Emma Turner, Carrollton.

Parks Hall Vice President—Elizabeth Allen, Summerville.

Terrell Hall Vice President—Mary Lowe Bates, Canton.

Horne House Vice President—Merrill Neely, Newnan.

JUNE FINANCE SHEET BEFORE COUNCIL TODAY

Finance Committee Will Hold Meeting at 2 O'Clock This Afternoon.

It is more than probable that the June apportionment sheet will be adopted by council with only one change, and that will be the addition of $9,000 for schools, making the total for schools $91,000. This change is to be made by the finance committee when it meets at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

While the finance sheet may go through without a scrap, although the mayor has not said he was satisfied with it, there will be, however, some other things over which rows are looked for.

There is almost sure to be a fight over the ordinance of Alderman Seawright to keep off the board of education any person who has been, is now or ever will be connected with any book publishing house.

Along with the Seawright ordinance will come the Ashley ordinance to prohibit the election of any school teacher who is a kinsman of any member of the board of education. This will also provoke a fight, it is said.

The charter revision committee will report that it favors the following changes in the city government: First, to make the chief of construction elected by the council instead of by the people; second, to establish a municipal farm for dope fiends; third, to divide the offices of tax assessors and tax receivers, so that the latter will be elected by council.

Altogether, the meeting of council promises to be one of the most interesting that has been held in some time.

FREE SWIMMING CAMPAIGN WILL OPEN THIS WEEK

The free swimming campaign to be conducted this week by the physical education department of the Y. M. C. A. commences this morning at 9 o'clock. Everything has been done by the officials teaching the several groups of novices in perfecting a schedule, and system by which any number of applicants may be taught in the space of six days to become efficient swimmers.

So far six hundred have taken advantage of the course and many more are expected to file their cards at the last moment. Mr. Franklin, the general supervisor of the campaign, is an expert in water sports and has had wide experience in conducting similar courses on a large scale in the cities of the north. He states that 500 out of 700 normal applicants will learn to swim this week if they conscientiously follow the teachings of each period.

Each one who has enrolled is requested to learn definitely the time his periods come from day to day as there will be no room for delinquents to be accommodated in other groups.

Atlanta Beauties Warmly Praised By Kitty Gordon

Creator of "Alma" Says Flo Ziegfeld Would Do Well to Send Scout Here to Watch Peachtree Promenade.

Resident pedestrians have been passing them every day in the week until they have grown accustomed to their charms, and, therefore, are more or less disinterested, but did you know that seven out of every ten native Atlanta girls whom you encounter on Peachtree or Whitehall street are eligible to meet every feminine beauty requirement of the most exacting chorus organized on Broadway?

If you doubt it, take the word of Miss Kitty Gordon. She knows! She arrived in town Sunday morning, and she says that the representative Atlanta girl is the most smartly dressed, the prettiest and the most appealing she has encountered in any city, New York included.

It was Miss Gordon who created the role of Alma in "Alma, Where Do You Live," and a number of other successful roles. She has come to Atlanta as the highest-salaried vaudeville actress who ever trod the boards of the Forsyth theater. It is her first professional visit to a town of anywhere near Atlanta's population.

Yet she marvels that a city of Atlanta's size should possess what she exuberantly terms "the prettiest girls she has ever seen." In her suite of rooms at the Hotel Ansley last night she told a reporter for The Constitution that she had spent an hour on Peachtree street Sunday afternoon observing the hundreds of southern beauties who were promenading down town.

"And do you know," she said, "I have never seen anything to compare with it. Heretofore I have always given Fifth avenue, in New York, credit for the handsomest girls of the nation, but Atlanta and Peachtree have Fifth avenue backed off the board.

"The girls I saw on the streets this afternoon are the ideal beauties. Seven out of every ten I passed would qualify for the payroll of the biggest musical comedy chorus that was ever organized on Broadway. I am a personal friend of Flo Ziegfeld, and when I get back to New York I am going to recommend that he send a beauty scout to Peachtree street to augment his chorus."

Georgia Osteopaths Plan to Get Meeting In 1916 for Atlanta

The osteopaths of Georgia are planning to make a determined fight to secure the national osteopathic convention for 1916 for Atlanta. A large delegation of practitioners from this state are planning to attend in a body the 1915 convention of the American Osteopathic association, which will be held the first week in August in Portland, Ore., and they are planning an extensive campaign to stampede the meeting in favor of convening here next year. Among the osteopaths who are interested in this campaign are Dr. W. W. Blackman, Dr. E. L. Broach, Dr. W. R. Dozier, Dr. Otto H. Gripe, Dr. M. C. Hardin and Dr. John W. Phelps.

This is one of the biggest professional conventions in this country. There are from one to two thousand delegates present and the sessions last for an entire week.

The "movies" have invaded even the field held sacred to science and will figure as one of the features of the Portland convention. The latest up-to-date discovery of this use of the movies is their peculiar value in diagnosis. The osteopaths were the ones who found out the use of this, and they will first demonstrate it in Oregon in August. Dr. J. Ivan Dufur, professor of nervous diseases in Philadelphia College of Osteopathy, is the man who first succeeded in making diagnostic films and he will lecture and demonstrate them at a great public meeting in Portland.

PEACE UP TO PEOPLE, SAYS GOV. BRUMBAUGH

Hershey, Pa., June 6.—Governor Martin Brumbaugh, who is a minister of the Church of the Brethren, speaking before the church's annual conference here today, declared peace should be the aim of the people, and that it would come to Europe when the rulers learned that the will of the people was supreme. He reviewed great struggles of history and pointed out that peace came when the people let it be known that they desired wars to end.

EDWIN M. NIX MAKING BRAVE FIGHT FOR LIFE

Young Wife Is Constantly at Bedside of Her Wounded Husband.

Lying on a white cot in the observation ward of the Grady hospital, with death staring him in the face, Edwin M. Nix, an electrician in the employ of the Georgia Railway and Power company, who was probably fatally shot at Mathis, Ga., near Talulah Falls, early Friday morning, accidentally, is making a brave fight for his life, in which he is hourly encouraged by his young wife, who is constantly at his bedside.

The doctors attending Nix hold out little hopes for recovery, and never expected that he would live as long as he has, but Nix clings to life and will not give out. He is determined not to die.

The bullet, which was fired accidentally by H. T. Hartwell, of Mathis, resident engineer of the Northern Construction company, severed a portion of the spinal column at the base of the neck. The physicians have operated on Nix here to relieve the pressure of the wound on this nerve center. The bullet has not been removed, having lodged in his left shoulder after entering the right side of his neck.

Nix and Hartwell were examining a new automatic Colt when it was accidentally discharged.

DRY GOODS MEN WILL MEET HERE JUNE 18

For the purpose of discussing conditions of trade, the third division of the Southern Wholesale Dry Goods association will meet in annual convention here, June 18 and 19. There will be present members from South Carolina, Georgia and Florida, and also guests from Alabama and Virginia, who will give their local versions of the present transition to better commercial conditions.

The convention will be called together by Chairman J. R. Little, president of Dougherty-Little-Redwine company, in the Piedmont hotel, which has been selected as the official headquarters. The delegates will also be entertained with a banquet there during their stay.

To Improve Expression As Well As Complexion

No face is really beautiful that lacks expression. Do you realize that continual use of powders and creams tends to spoil pliancy of skin and elasticity of expression? Why not quit cosmetics, use something better, which won't clog the pores or make the skin dry, pasty or oily? Ordinary mercolized wax acts quite differently from any cosmetic. It wonderfully improves any complexion, giving it life and expression. By gradually, harmlessly peeling off the thin veil of surface skin, it brings to view a pure, soft, spotless complexion, delicately beautiful and youthful. Every druggist has this wax; it is seldom more than an ounce is needed. It is spread on nightly like cold cream and washed off mornings. In a week or two the transformation is complete.

Wrinkles do not, of course, enhance the expression. Neither do the pasty things many use to eradicate them. A treatment free from all objection is made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pint witch hazel; use as a wash lotion. This soon removes even the most obstinate wrinkles.—(adv.)

COBB FEARS SOX IN FLAG FIGHT

Thinks Rowland's Men Tigers' Most Formidable Rivals — Yanks and Red Sox Best in East.

BY TY COBB.
(World's Champion All-Round Ball Player.)

The Detroit club, convinced of its ability to carry off this year's pennant honors, will keep a close eye on the results of the first invasion of the east by western clubs of the American league. The Tigers, not a whit apprehensive of themselves, are nevertheless very anxious to determine as soon as possible the teams which are likely to prove most troublesome, so that full preparation may be directed to meet them.

Of consuming interest to Hugh Jennings and the rest of us is the probable bearing of the White Sox on their first long road jaunt. The White Sox, which on form to date figure among our most dangerous rivals, have not the reputation for doing their best work on the road. Indeed, Chicago has always been considered a home team; it has won a great majority of its games at Comiskey park.

Though bolstered by the great Eddie Collins, the team's traditional home strength and road weakness seems to have prevailed so far this season. Three-quarters of the White Sox victories that carried them into the lead after six weeks of battling were negotiated at home.

Whether Chicago should come a cropper on its long road trip, I think one of Detroit's most formidable rivals would be ditched temporarily, if not permanently. No team can grab a pennant unless it wins considerably over half of its road games. What the eastern clubs showed the western clubs on their recent visit must not be weighed too seriously. It was impossible for the visitors to show their best. The weather handicaps were too severe. Naturally, the chill in the air affected the easterners more than it did us of the middle west. We had opportunities to get out and exercise on some of the off days which they did not have.

East Less Formidable.

There is little doubt in my mind, though, that the east is far less formidable than it was a year ago. Then there was not a soft spot on the Atlantic seaboard. Even the fading Yankees were possessed of such a wealth of pitching strength that for most every game was a battle to the death. They had not the offensive strength to score enough runs. It is true, but it was mighty difficult to score runs against their stone wall defense.

I can tell you. By a strange turn of the wheel of fortune, this year we find these same New Yorkers one of the real obstacles of the east.

A most radical change has come over this particular section with the passing of the once all-conquering Athletics. Connie Mack and his men have floundered too long in the slough of despond to command particular respect. Washington, for some strange reason, seems to have lost its punch. The hitting strength has petered out, the determining the effectiveness of the galaxy of pitching wealth.

New York and Boston, it would now appear, must shoulder the brunt of holding the eastern teams in check. The Red Sox, in spite of their pitching limitations and possible slump this season, are still to be reckoned a most dangerous factor—more than that, are likely at any moment to burst into such a winning streak at home as to upset the present club standings. Boston and New York should bring out any possible road weaknesses of the White Sox. Philadelphia and Washington seem soft spots for both Detroit and Chicago.

Heretofore, as intimated above, we western clubs, after home successes, used to butt into a stone wall every time we struck the east. A great breach has been made in that wall by the slump of the Philadelphia and Washington teams. The Tigers have every reason to expect an affy in the White Sox to help us to turn down the challenges of New York and Boston, in the present intersectional games.

"Chicago is a front runner," many ardent Detroit friends have argued to me. "It is the old story of a quarter horse. Those Sox will come back with a thump by the middle of July."

Likes Sox Chances.

I sincerely hope, for my own chance at the world's series spoils, that there is something prophetic in such sentiment. But I cannot see any good reason why Chicago should falter. I do believe that some of the young men of the White Sox may have been overleling above their speed; that they will not round the ball game as they have doing when the veteran pitchers thaw out. But this possible deficiency will be balanced, in my opinion, by the general improvement of Eddie Collins and his associates of the infield.

"I am just beginning to find myself in these new surroundings," Collins said to me a short time ago. "You do not realize how strangely I felt at first transplanted from Comiskey park to a thousand dollar infield. Years of association with Barry, Baker and McInnis created a confidence and assurance of defense that became second nature to us. We worked in such absolute harmony that play became mechanical routine. Coming to Chicago among strange associates and under a system of play naturally different from that of Connie Mack left me more or less out of hand, so to speak. But now I have had a chance to study intimately the style of play of my infield associates, and I think I have been able to adapt myself fairly well to the new circumstances. I think, too, that both myself and my comrades from now on will work hard to progress along lines of closer harmony. It takes time, you know, for perfect genuine team play."

Collins is consider one of the very greatest individual assets of the game. He will not only carry his own share of the load on the burden, but will help develop to the greatest degree the cunning and skill of each infield comrade of the White Sox. The improvement of this inner line, therefore, is more than likely to offset any weakness in outfield slump. And Chicago, possessed of fine pitchers and catchers, I shall continue to regard as the most dangerous rival so long as the Sox continue within striking distance.

Yanks Game Crowd.

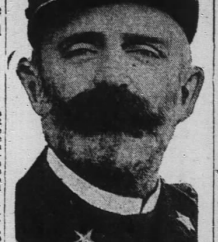
It pleases me mightily to see that Bill Donovan's club is one of the proper spirit. A team that can come back as it did two victories over Washington after losing six straight in the west is not likely to be downed easily by any slump or trick of fate. I have talked with players of both the White Sox and the Browns, and they took to me that nothing but the toughest sort of luck spoiled what began as a successful march for Donovan through the west.

"At least two of the games that we took from New York were won purely through fluke," said Jimmy Austin, of St. Louis.

"New York was beaten soundly in Chicago," said Eddie Collins, "but looked better in defeat than a great many clubs would in victory. Donovan's boys never gave up the fight. And to me it appeared the reverses were greatly due to the weakness of the team through unusual cold, dampness and lack of work."

We of the west are tickled to death that New York promises to remain in the fight. A good team for New York means much for our league. Besides, we all like to play to the plaudits of such crowds as Brush Stadium will accommodate.

When Bill Donovan told me last winter that he wouldn't give Maisel for Frank Baker it was clear he had gone loose in his head. But maybe Bill was right, after all. Certainly Baker could not improve the general excellence of Maisel's worth as shown to date. Presumably was baseball managers told me Maisel wouldn't hit the size of his collar when the pitchers began to serve him curve balls. But he is hitting curves and everything else just now. In fact, his hitting has been one of the surprises of the season. Because of his speed



DUKE OF GENOA.

Prince Thomas of Savoy has been delegated to act as king of Italy while King Victor Emmanuel is at the front. The following decree, appointing him to act for the king, was published in the Official Gazette: "We, Victor Emmanuel, on the report of the president of the cabinet and after hearing the advice of the council of ministers, have appointed our most beloved uncle, Thomas of Savoy, duke of Genoa, our lieutenant general during our absence from the capital. In his advice the responsible minister he will transact all matters of ordinary administration and every other matter having the character of urgency. He will sign all royal decrees, which will be countersigned in the usual form."

Improvement Is Shown In the Industrial Lines

Capacity of Many Plants Taxed by War Orders, Says Bradstreet.

Confidence Strengthened by Decision in Steel Corporation Suit, Says Dun.

Bradstreet's report says:

Final distribution, checked in the east by unseasonable weather, has been revived in the west by sunshine and warmth; speeding up is the rule in industrial lines, and war orders, taken on close to a record basis, tax the capacity of many plants, spread activity to other lines, make for competitive bidding for skilled labor, hence unemployment is steadily decreasing. At the same time crop news is favorable, and the indicated yield of wheat suggests another record crop. The decision rendered Thursday denying dissolution of the Steel corporation, and solution of the Harvester corporation, would receive greater attention but for international affairs, which, though causing more or less hesitation as regards forward, semi-speculative commitments, finds little reflection in market circles.

Business Is Growing.

All in all, business for future delivery is growing more, though perhaps slowly, and at most places it is ahead of last year, when trade and prices were downward. Collections in the major part of the country are fairly good, money is easy, road sales, especially in the interior, are increasing, and manufacturing trade is much better than a year ago. The stock market, fairly firm in its undertone, looks for a higher range as favorable news develops, and to act as if an amicable settlement of those foreign political matters in which this country is concerned, will eventuate hastily. Building, restricted since the outbreak of the war, is likely to show for this the first increase since July. Business failures, fewer in number, suggest less strain. Wheat exports are the smallest of any week since the war started, a sequence, perhaps, of the fact that there is comparatively little wheat left for export. However, vessels space is very scarce, thus curtailing shipments of ore to this country, while hampering full growth of our export trade, particularly in lumber, and heavyweight manufactures. It is thought that the continued urgent demands of European countries for horses and mules will greatly reduce the shortage of those animals next spring.

Dun's report says:

A waiting policy always hinders business to some extent and the hesitancy engendered by the foreign complications tends to arrest the progress warranted by the intrinsic soundness of underlying conditions. Even though the weather has proved a added drawback in many sections, the forward movement has not been wholly checked, and confidence is strengthened by the favorable decision in the Steel corporation suit. This factor bulks large in the future outlook, while many other influences also augur well, such as the absence of burdensome merchandise stocks, the steadily diminishing commercial mortality and the reduction in the number of unemployed, resulting from the revival of activity in manufacturing lines.

Best reports are still received from those branches benefiting by the urgent war demands and in this respect the steel trade leads, although the scarcity of available vessels makes export shipments increasingly difficult. Placing orders for 15,000-ton Pennsylvania rail contract has been followed by differences regarding specifications, but in general equipment buying shows some expansion and continues a measure for the higher rate of mill operations, which in a few cases exceed 80 per cent of capacity.

Pig Iron Increasing.

Production of pig iron continues to gain month by month; copper, following a period of quietness, is again being purchased more freely, while the large consumption of lead and spelter is reflected in the inflated prices for these metals. Considerable foreign business is strengthened by the fact that domestic trading still lags and the unseasonable weather adversely affects trading in the Northwest. Conservatism is still manifest in the primary dry goods markets and there is little incentive to undertake forward commitments, yet distribution of merchandise on old orders continues very full. Woolens and worsteds rule quiet, but there is a firmer tendency, both in men's wear and in dress fabrics. Retail trade in the east is irregular, while in the southern sections of the west the movement is very steady. On the whole, better conditions exist in wool, with an upward trend to values noted on some grades. Speculative quotations again occurred in raw cotton, but the pronounced depression in wheat contributed to a sharp reaction. Current decline in breadstuffs. Dun's Index Number on June 1 fell to 8125, a net loss of 992, against $126,449 a month earlier. Although added uncertainty is created by the Mexican developments, rising security prices attest the equanimity with which the financial community views the unsettled state of the country's international affairs. The average of 60 railway stocks has advanced to $78.37, or $1.25 above the low point of May, while renewed strength has also appeared in the industrial issues and so-called war specialties. Additional millions in gold have come from Canada, but rates for sterling are being quoted more firmly and Italian exchange have established new low records.

STEEL DECISION BOOSTED STOCKS

Dealings Broke Thro' Restraint Imposed by Dispute With Germany Into Animation and Buoyancy.

New York, June 6.—The decree in favor of the United States Steel corporation in the government's dissolution suit was generally accepted as evidence of world politics and wars in stock market estimation. Dealings broke through the restraint imposed by the dispute with Germany into animation and buoyancy, although prices reacted later and closed irregular on the day. Nevertheless broad inferences were drawn from the steel decision, while the terms of the court's opinion appeal were not lost sight of.

Ground work for recovery had been laid both in this decision by the tone of confidence, due partly to greater hope of agreement with Germany, and more to the conviction that the extraordinary strength of the country's financial position would not be impaired in any event. Happenings in the exchange market confirmed this conviction. Gold imports arrived in large volume, with prospects of indefinite continuance.

War orders in great volume remain to be paid for, having figured in the huge trade balance of past months. The cry for fresh munition supplies for Britain's leaders and the Russians' lack emphasize the force of this factor. Release of New York's great sums of gold by debtor nations, with manifold uses developable from the country's plans for flotation in this market of foreign government securities. Home demands in the money market are slight and time loans this week fell to lowest rates since 1911.

Steel trade sentiment brightened distinctly. Copper securities were strengthened by the large export demand, as well as by promised benefits in a settlement of the Mexican situation.

Condition of Treasury.

Washington, June 6.—The condition of the United States treasury at the close of business yesterday was:

Net balance in general fund $16,457,498.

Total receipts $2,784,621.

Total payments $2,286,824.

The deficit this fiscal year is $104,376,972, against a deficit of $35,963,772 last year, exclusive of Panama canal and public debt transactions.

COTTON ADVANCED 10 TO 12 POINTS

Showed Improved Tone Owing to Elimination of Long Interest and Additions to Short Interest.

New Orleans, June 6.—Cotton took on an improved tone last week and the net results of the week's trading were an advance of 10 to 12 points. It was generally considered that the market was steady chiefly because of the better technical position it was in, owing to the elimination of the long interest and the recent additions to the short interest.

The heavier trading on the spot in the Liverpool market toward the end of the week, the announcement that the cotton crop was no longer seriously against the English market, the large mill takings for the week and the continued liquidation of the stock which were the chief bullish influences of the week against them was the controversy between this country and Germany and the improvement in crop and weather reports from the cotton region. The several days of sunshine last week in most sections of the belt was considered, gave planters a chance to clean and cultivate their crops.

During the week the stock market was dealt with by many influences of the bullish side, but the most important of these was the note to Germany from this country and the probable reply it will bring. As far as can be seen this is the most important factor the cotton market will have to contend with in the near future. Should Germany show a disposition to make concessions it is probable would cause sharp bulges in the market. Any unfavorable turn in diplomatic exchanges would cause a quick depression.

Weather and crop news will increase in importance this week as the new season is now well under way and the question of the acreage must soon be definitely settled. This would be a strong bullish influence, while fair weather, uninterrupted by occasional light showers, would give the bears the greatest encouragement. It can hardly be a question, however, as is usual at this time of the year, because of the situation in Europe.

MRS. BRECKENRIDGE QUITS SUFFRAGE BOARD

Chicago June 6.—Mrs. Desha Breckenridge, of Lexington, Ky., resigned from the national board of the National Woman Suffrage association at a meeting held tonight in advance of the first mid-year conference, which will be begun tomorrow. Mrs. Nellie Nugent Somerville, of Greenville, Miss., was elected in her place.

Mrs. Breckenridge resigned because her work in Kentucky prevented her giving the proper time to the national work, it was said. Those attending the preliminary session were Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, of New York, president of the association; Mrs. Stanley McCormick, New York; Mrs. Richard Y. Fitzgerald, Massachusetts; Mrs. Orton H. Clark, Kalamazoo, Mich.; Mrs. Henry Wade Rogers, New Haven, Conn.; Mrs. Walter McNab Miller, of Columbia, Mo., and Mrs. Medill McCormick, of Chicago.

Controversies over national and state politics between the national association and Congressional union are expected to be the leading points at issue in the conference.

CAR BUILDERS BUYING FROM THE STEEL MILLS

Increase in the Average Daily Output 8 Per Cent—More Ammunition Bought.

New York, June 6.—Steel mills last week benefited from additional orders for bars, shapes, plates and castings from car builders and more orders for ammunition. Export buying was less conspicuous, but miscellaneous orders from foreign sources aggregated over 35,000 tons. The steel corporation increased its shipments the last week in May to 81.2 per cent of total capacity. Increase in average daily output, specifically, in shipments, was 8 per cent, about 8 per cent over April. There was no change in the amount of unfilled tonnage. Shipments were approximately at the rate of 27,000 tons a day.

Railroad equipment buying was small, including 16,000 tons of rails, 2,000 cars, 10 locomotives and 1,200 tons of bridge work. The largest rail orders were 8,100 tons for the Norfolk & Western.

Steel building work was light in volume. The largest contract for the fabricating shops included 2,000 tons for an extension to the Roebling plant and 1,200 tons for a building at Cliffside, N. J. Small bridge orders were placed by the St. Paul, Lehigh Valley and New Haven. At St. Louis bids will be taken June 29 on the approach to the bridge over the Mississippi river, calling for 23,000 tons structural steel.

The continued extraordinary advance in spelter was responsible for an advance of $4 a ton on galvanized wire, $10 on galvanized pipe and $14 to $15 a ton on galvanized sheets. Further advances are imminent.

TEACHERS' ELECTION WILL BE POSTPONED

Board Members Will Hear From School Principals Before Making Appointments.

The election of the teachers of the city schools will not be held on Tuesday afternoon, although the board of education has called a meeting for that day.

The executive committee will meet Monday afternoon to have a talk with some of the school principals. The teachers' committee may be invited to act with the executive committee. As only fifteen of the principals have been invited to appear Monday afternoon, the committees cannot possibly get through in time, it is stated, for the board to go into an election of teachers Tuesday afternoon.

It is not at all improbable that the election may be deferred a week, for it will not be held until all the principals have been heard from.

As soon as the regular teachers have been elected, the board will go into an election of teachers for the vacation schools.

DENIED PERMISSION TO VISIT CHILDREN, SHE TRIES SUICIDE

Macon, Ga., June 6.—(Special.)—Despondent because the authorities of the Appleton Church home had refused to permit her to see her children, Mrs. Mamie Thurman, who resides on Jeff Davis street, threw herself into the Ocmulgee river at a point known as "Lovers' Leap," near the Spring street bridge, today, and, but for the timely arrival of four negro men who heard her screams, she would have drowned.

The water at this particular point is 10 feet deep. The negroes found Mrs. Thurman clinging to the limb of a tree overhanging the water. One of them jumped in and held her up until the others could secure a rope and draw her out.

When she reached the hospital she was almost lifeless, and it took two hours to revive her. Attending physicians say she may not recover from the shock.

Mrs. Thurman had left her umbrella, hat and pocketbook on the bank. The purse contained only 15 cents.

Invest a Month in Health

Yes, a month is a good deal of time if you are a busy man. You can do a good deal of work in a month.

But—not if your health account is overdrawn; not if you are tired and run down and in need of rest. In this condition it will take you two months to do the work of one.

Suppose you invest one month in health and rest—scientific rest that gets at the true sources of fatigue. Surround yourself with environment in which right living is a matter of course. Eat, rest, exercise under scientific direction which makes the most of every hour you put into your health investment.

Many a business man has found that a month spent in this way yielded the largest dividends he ever drew.

For nearly half a century the great health resort at Battle Creek has been teaching and demonstrating the ways of good health, helping people to get well and teaching them how to keep well at the same time. Its operation is directed by a staff of forty physicians with hundreds of trained nurses, dietitians, masseurs and other assistants. Its equipment for teaching health methods is the most complete in existence.

Prices are in keeping with the accommodations chosen. You may live very well or very modestly. For particulars and terms write to 505 Administration Building, Battle Creek Sanitarium, Battle Creek, Michigan.

All express trains between New York and Chicago on the Michigan Central stop at Battle Creek. A limousine will meet you at the station.

Hereford Bulls Bought by the County

FULTON COUNTY'S HEREFORD BULLS.

A move in behalf of the stock-raising interests of Fulton county has been taken by the board of commissioners in the purchase of two registered Hereford bulls of registered breed.

They have been installed in the Bellwood camp and are at the disposal of county residents for breeding purposes. The first is a prize Hereford, Edmond Second, registration No. 458435, and the second is Leeton Boy, registration No. 497168. Both animals were owned by E. E. Wall, of Leeton, Missouri.

The establishment of Hereford animals for public service was done for several reasons, largely because they are a healthy and vigorous breed; can be maintained on less feed than other breed; convert cheap feed into high-priced beef; adaptable to climatic conditions; mature at an early age at profitable weight; prolific of breed; cows are good milk producers.

The commissioners have also bought a prize Holstein bull for the benefit of the county dairy interests. This last purchase, however, has not arrived. The Holstein stock is considered more valuable as a milk producing breed.

Bishop Hoss and Bishop Candler Preach to Students at Emory

Oxford, Ga., June 6.—(Special.)—Despite clouded skies and forbidding weather a great congregation assembled today in the Allen Memorial chapel to hear the Emory commencement sermon of Bishop E. E. Hoss.

Bishop Hoss has been for many years one of the strongest figures in Southern Methodism. He is the oldest living male descendant of the great John Secter, and he inherits many of the noblest characteristics of his famous ancestor.

Today Bishop Hoss preached on the moving theme, "God's Answer to Man's Cry." The eloquent preacher enlarged with clearness and power upon the universal hunger of the human heart to know God, adverting to the cry of Moses, "I beseech Thee, shew me to Thy glory," and to the pathetic words of the Hebrew Psalmist, "As the heart panteth after the water brooks, so panteth my soul after Thee, O God." He quoted also the thrilling words of St. Augustine, "O God, Thou hast made us for Thyself, and our hearts are restless till they rest in Thee."

God Known Instinctively.

He asserted with emphasis that the most universal and indistructible instinct of the human heart is that one which prompts it to seek for acquaintance with God Himself. He insisted that this deathless instinct assured the reality and truth of the knowledge of God, affirming with unanswerable force, "Our human nature is at least as veracious along its higher ranges as it is along its lower levels," and "It is a perfectly sound argument by which from man's longing for a knowledge of God we infer that he is capable of obtaining it."

With invincible logic the bishop attacked the assumptions of materialists and the paralyzing system of agnostics.

Advancing along the line of his splendid argument, Bishop Hoss declared that God, answering to man's hunger for divine knowledge, had revealed Himself in the material universe, in the moral law which is imbedded in the very nature of man, in the historical revelation made in the Hebrew and Christian scriptures, and best of all, in Jesus Christ, who shows men the divine Father in fairest lines and tenderest form.

Speaking of Christ, he said: "He does not come to us as a mere messenger from God, but He comes as God's very self, yet clothed upon with a perfect human nature, and so tabernacling among us. He incorporates Himself into the very body of our humanity, and lays on His own heart of compassion the burden of our infirmities and sorrows and our sins." He went on to say that the revelation which Jesus made rose to its very great heights in the course of his life, but it reached its culmination in his atoning death. The cross is the highest reach of revelation because it is a most object lesson in self-renunciation, self-surrender and self-sacrifice—because, being interpreted, it spells undying love.

The vast congregation heard with the greatest interest his truly Christian sermon, and the large graduating class, seated in a body immediately before the preacher, seemed to be profoundly impressed. A stronger presentation of the truth of the gospel could scarcely be conceived. The service was closed with an impressive prayer by Rev. W. Yarbrough, D. D., most intimate friend and college mate of the late Dr. Young J. Allen, of China, and a man dearly beloved in Oxford.

Bishop Candler Preaches.

At the evening service, Bishop Candler preached on the text, "Solid fare" the form of sound words which thou hast heard of Me, in faith and love which is in Christ Jesus," I. Timothy 1:13. He argued that the decay in doctrine resulted in demoralization in life, and disorder in society.

The commencement has drawn to Oxford many notable men from every part of Georgia and other states. Rev. Forrest Prytman, D. D., chaplain of the United States senate, is among the visitors. He is a man of marked ability, ripe scholarship and most engaging personality.

The board of trustees meets Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

GEORGIA DENTISTS HOLD BIG MEETING IN ATLANTA JUNE 17

Special efforts are being made for the entertainment and instruction of the 250 members of the Georgia Dental association by the local committee, which has selected the Piedmont hotel as the headquarters of the convention during its sessions, which commence June 17.

The feature of this convention will be the facilities afforded the many manufacturers of dental supplies for exhibition purposes. The entire ninth floor of the hotel has been leased for their use, and under the direction of Dr. DeLos L. Hill every detail is being arranged to make complete this adjunct to the convention's meetings, which is considered so important by visiting dentists.

Dr. S. E. Roach, Chicago, and Dr. Theodore Blum, New York, who have international reputations, will be the special conductors of the progressive clinics which have been arranged.

The officers for the present year are: Dr. E. N. Tigner, Milledgeville, president; Dr. M. B. Hull, first vice president; Dr. A. A. Williams, Columbus, second vice president; Dr. M. M. Forbes, secretary; Dr. W. M. Zirkle, treasurer.

PREPARE TO CALL NEW PASTOR SOON AT SECOND BAPTIST

At the close of the morning services of the Second Baptist church, Sunday morning, the congregation passed a resolution authorizing the chairman of the board of directors, A. D. Adair, to appoint a committee of twenty-five members of the church to take into consideration the nomination of a new pastor, Dr. John E. White having recently resigned.

This committee will be appointed by Mr. Adair at an early date.

"SAFETY FIRST" SIGNS, DR. PROCTOR'S SUBJECT

"Safety First" was the subject of the sermon by Rev. H. H. Proctor to his people at the First Congregational church, colored, last night, suggested by the sign posts recently placed near all the public schools of Atlanta as a warning against speed in their vicinity.

"These 'safety first' signs, placed conspicuously in our city and in all other cities of the land, recognize that the twin sins of the age are speed and greed. The warning is needed not only in the physical and financial realms, but also in the moral and spiritual. Men are living too fast today. They are putting material and temporal values first. These things have their place, but that is never first. The things that have the first place in life are the moral and spiritual values."

(From Judge.)

The world does an injustice to the feminine college graduate when it believes that her education has killed her innate mother-love. College courses rarely penetrate so deeply.

Habersham Players Will Present "As You Like It"

The very large audience at a recent performance of "As You Like It" was a surprise to many people, and proved conclusively that the great army of the mentally unemployed in Atlanta is capable of enjoying something better than what is usually served up here in the form of amusement. To those who are not too old to remember the beauties of Shakespeare, it is not necessary to speak of the contemplative Jacques, Touchstone, prince of philosophers, or the "rustical" Audrey. From the entrance of Adam, which part is said to have been that taken by Shakespeare himself, to the epilogue of Rosalind, there is never a dull moment. Even the wrestling match, which is wonderful, appeals even to those who are not fascinated by the wit nor touched by the pathos of the lines.

For the first time in Atlanta the beautiful first act will be given, preserving the continuity of the play; for the first time will be heard the incidental music which is such a delightful feature of all Shakespeare plays, and for the first time here will be seen the wrestling match which is usually omitted by traveling companies.

The play will be given in the dense wood adjoining the residence of Colonel Peel, the entrance being designated by a big sign, "This is the Forest of Arden," Thursday, June 10, at 4 p. m.

Elaborate preparations have been made for the presentation of this comedy by the "Habersham Players," and nearly all the boxes of the pretty little woodland theater have been spoken for.

Railway Men Will Gather at Piedmont Monday and Tuesday

For the first time that it has ever met outside of New York city, the American Railway association will meet in Atlanta Monday and Tuesday at the Piedmont hotel. There will be between fifty and one hundred delegates in attendance. John E. Fairbanks, of New York, assistant general secretary and treasurer, arrived in Atlanta and registered at the Piedmont Sunday afternoon. On Monday a committee will consider weighing. On Tuesday a committee will consider marking and handling freight.

GRANT PARK

The desirability of modern homes conveniently situated to Grant Park is emphasized by the fact that you seldom hear of one being offered for sale. When one is offered for sale it does not stay on the market long, because buyers are quick to take advantage of the many opportunities offered by a home overlooking Grant Park.

On South Boulevard, just at the park, we offer a very attractive home of six rooms, on an elevated, nicely shaded lot. (Oak trees in front, lots of fruit trees in rear.)

House in best of condition. Located about half block from car line, and a convenient distance from city school.

Price, $3,900.

AT THE THEATERS

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

Forsyth patrons are going to have the treat of the season at the busy theater, starting with the matinee performance this afternoon. Miss Kitty Gordon, the famous theatrical star, heads the bill of special features and among the others who will contribute to the program promises to be the superior of the best show of the season will be Jack Wilson, assisted by Franklyn Batin; Miss Ray Dooley, assisted by Elmer Graham and Gordon Dooley; Galetti's Baboons; the Swain-Ostman Trio, and Frank Markley. Miss Gordon scored a great triumph, and won world-wide publicity in the production of the famous shocker "Alma, Where Do You Live?" and her tour in "Pretty Miss Smith," and in vaudeville it has been conceded that she is one of the most powerful drawing cards. Of course local theatergoers need no introduction to Jack Wilson.

Mary Pickford.

(At the Grand.)

That Mary Pickford is the highest-salaried star in pictures is a fact that is pretty well established. That the dainty little entertainer is the most popular of all the screen idols is another fact that will not be argued. And whenever there is announcement that Mary Pickford is to appear in an absolutely new picture, the movie fans get busy and pack the theater in which the feature is shown. Today and Tuesday Miss Pickford will star in "The Dawn of a Tomorrow," a five-part Paramount, conceded to be the best picture that the star has yet been afforded. The leading character in "The Dawn of a Tomorrow" furnishes the incomparable Mary Pickford unlimited artistic advantages. The picture will be shown at the Grand for today and tomorrow only.
